PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Appropriaiion Bill Reconsidered—Revised System of Collecting Taxes—Another Free Rail Road Bill Passed in the House—Private Bills Passed.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, March 31, 1868.

SENATE.

The Appropriation bill recently defeated, was reconsidered, and will come up for action at an early day.

The Senate agreed to adjourn sine die April 14th.

The bill from the Civil Code Commissioners revising the system of collecting State, county, and township taxes was discussed till the hour of adjournment.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FREE RAILROAD BILL.

Mr. JENKS, of Jefferson, in view of the fact that the Governor had vetoed the Free Railroad Law, read in place a new bill, meeting the objections of the Governor and compromising with the Senate. Passed finally by a unanimous vote and sent to the Senate.

This bill requires ten thousand dollars capital per mile, six thousand dollars to be subscribed for every mile, and ten per cent paid up before commencing operations. It is left optional whether the books shall be kept open till the full amount of capital stock is subscribed. Companies are subject to the general railroad law of 1849, and roads must be commenced within two years after filing the articles, and fifty miles completed in five years thereafter. The capital stock may be increased with the consent of stockholders at the rate of one hundred per cent of original capital. Companies may be constructed, and roads may cross at grade at the expense of the crossing road. No streets or alleys shall be entered without the consent of borough or city authorities.

PRIVATE BILLS PASSED.

The private calendar to-day embraced five hundred bills. The following passed finally:

Repealing an act authorizing the election of additional officers and changing the manner of collecting taxes in North Fayette township, Allegheny county.

Relative to the House of Refuge of Western Pennsylvania, which imposes the expense of keeping persons there on the county from which they come.

Authorizing the New Castle Hall and Market Company to borrow five thousand dollars.

Incorporating the borough of Ormsby, Allegheny county.

Relative to the collection of State tax in Butler borough, and authorizing the Court of Quarter Sessions to appoint Street Supervisor in said borough.

Supplement for Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, authorizing the building of connecting branches in Allegheny.

Incorporating the Uniontown and West Virginia Railroad.

Incorporating the Stony Creek Railroad, Somerset county.

Incorporating the Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Brownsville Railroad Company.

At the afternoon session the SPEAKER presented the joint resolutions of the Minnesota Legislature favoring the transfer of the Gettysburg National Cemetery to the General Government.

The joint resolution from the Senate to adjourn sine die April 14th was postponed, on motion of Mr. ARMSTRONG, of Lancaster, until the Senate returns the Appropriation bill.

BILLS PASSED FINALLY.

Establishing a ferry over the Youghiogheny river a. Boston, Elizabeth township, Allegheny county.

Incorporating a company to erect a turnpike from West Union, on the Virginia State Line, to West Alexander, Washington county.

Establishing a ferry over the Allegheny from land of John Remer, Madison township, Armstrong county.

Erecting an independent school district out of Cambria and Somerset counties, to be known as Point Ridge District.

Incorporating the Allegheny Grocery and Provision Company.

IMPEACHMENT RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

At the evening session the House passed the Senate joint resolutions thanking Congress for impeaching Andrew Johnson and endorsing E. M. Stanton for resisting invasion of his office, by a strict party vote.

ARKANSAS.

Majority for the Constitution 1,649—Great Frauds Alleged.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—The Democrat has a special from Little Rock, Arkansas, signed Thomas M. Bowen, President of the Reconstruction Convention, which says: Official returns from the entire State give the Constitution sixteen hundred and forty-nine majority.

The Avalanche's Little Rock special this evening says: The Radicals claim the success of the Constitution by 1,649. Heavy frauds are alleged to have been practiced by registers in nearly every locality, and the common belief is the Constitution has been defeated by seven thousand majority. Returns are suppressed by registers in some cases. The result can only be determined by the official returns. The Legislature is elected without opposition. It is not known if the military will interfere. A greater majority is claimed for the Constitution in this and Jefferson counties than the entire number of registered voters. The election lasted seventeen days. Few whites voted for the Constitution. The majority for the Constitution in this county was 3,952, which is greater than the first registration, including 1,500 whites.

FROM EUROPE.

English Parliament Proceedings—The War in Paraguay—Irish Church Establishment.

[By Telegragh to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

AFFAIRS IN SOUTH AMERICA.

LONDON, March 30.—Midnight.—In the House of Lords this evening, Lord Malmesbury disclaimed any intention upon the part of the English Government to interfere in the affairs of Paraguay.

IRISH CHURCH ESTABLISHMENT.

In the House of Commons petitions in favor of and against the Irish Church establishment were read.

Mr. Gladstone, after calling for the reading of the acts of Parliament in relation to the Irish Church, moved that the House proceed to consider them. He declared the time had come when the Irish Church should cease to exist as a State establishment. He would add no details of means by which this was to be brought about, because it was not the duty of the opposition to arrange them all. Proprietary rights should be respected. There should no longer be a salaried clergy paid by the State and connected with the Church. A fund for the benefit of Ireland should be created from balances of the incomes of the Church.

Mr. Gladstone proceeded to explain that the Liberal party had not dealt with the question, because it had never before been presented to them in a concrete shape, as at the present time. Both parties, he said, were excusable for neglecting the subject, because the public sense had not before been fully aroused in regard to it. He repelled the charge of apostacy which had been made against him. Speaking of measures which should be adopted, he recommended that the churches and parsonages should be left to the clergy, and those who chose to maintain them would indemnify the owners of the advowson. After further arguments, Mr. Gladstone closed with an appeal to the House to take some definite action.

Lord Stanley replied, opposing a too hasty action in the matter, saying the House should wait until the Commission on the Irish Church should make their report, and concluded by moving his resolution, of which he gave notice last Friday, that the subject be left over for the consideration of the next Parliament.

Mr. Craineborne, the member from Stamford, moved a resolution that the principle of disestablishing the Irish Church be settled now, and the details be left to the next Parliament. The debate was adjourned.

A bill abolishing flogging in the army has passed the House of Commons.

General Hancock Assumes Command of the Atlantic Department—Resignations of Army Officers—Supreme Court—A Florida Habeas Corpus Case—McArdle Case Put Over Till Next Term.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 31.

DEPARTMENT OF ATLANTIC—HANCOCK ASSUMES COMMAND.

Headquarters Military Division of Atlantic.

General Order No. 1.—In compliance with General Order No. 17, dated Headquarters of the Army, Adjutant General's Office, Washington, City, D. C., March 28, 1868, the undersigned hereby assumes command of the military division of the Atlantic, composed of the Department of the Lakes, embracing the States of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin, the Department of the East, embracing the New England States, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and the Department of Washington, embracing the Distririct of Columbia, Maryland and Delaware, excepting the post of Fort Delaware, attached to the Department of the East. The Headquarters are established at Washington, D. C.

[Signed] W. S. HANCOCK,
[Official.] Maj. Gen. Commanding.

RESIGNATION OF ARMY OFFICERS.

The resignation of the following officers of the regular army have been accepted by the President: Lieut. Col. F. Townsend, 9th United States Infantry, Brevet Brig. General United States Army; Capt. James P. Brownlow, 8th United States Cavalry; Capt. Jno. P. Macy, 10th United States Infantry; First Lieut. Louis H. Fine, 3d United States Artillery; First Lieut. David J. Scott, 10th United States Infantry; First Lieut. Egbert Alcott, 29th United States Infantry; Second Lieut. Wm. A. Clark, 30th United States Infantry; Second Lieut. Porter Hadeus, 8th United States Cavalry; Second Lieut. Earl M. Rogers, 30th United States Infantry; Second Lieut. Jno. A. Arthur, 2d United States Cavalry.

SUPREME COURT—HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

In the Supreme Court to-day Associate Justice Nelson said a motion had been made to advance the cause, ex parte, Martin and Magill, and the Court had come to the conclusion not to entertain it. The motion was, therefore, denied. This was a case which had several times been before the Court. It was an appeal from an order from the District Court of Florida, sitting as a Circuit Court in a criminal case of murder, in which it was alleged the Court had no jurisdiction. It was proper to suggest that the remedy, if the relators are entitled to any, was by a writ of habeas corpus from this Court, through the District Court sitting as a Criminal Court, and a certiorari under the fourteenth section of the Judiciary act of 1789. This was the conclusion of the Court. It remained for counsel to proceed accordingly if they saw proper.

The parties have been convicted of murder, and the case involves points similar to those in the McArdle case.

THE M'ARDLE CASE.

Judge Nelson said a motion was made yesterday by Mr. Black for leave to argue the McArdle case, under the aspect it presents in view of the recent act of Congress. One of the counsel, Mr. Black, was not in Court, but the conclusion of the Court was that if there was no objection they would hear the argument at the opening of the Court on Wednesday. It should here be stated that Judge Black, in making the motion yesterday, did not think the recent act of Congress withdrawing from this Court jurisdiction in this class of cases was of any effect to the McArdle case. Mr. Carpenter objected to the argument to-morrow. As it was a case of much importance, he should like more time. Justice Miller asked Mr. Carpenter what time he wanted. Mr. Carpenter replied if the subject went over to-morrow it would necessarily go over for the term. Judge Nelson said the Court would let the question stand till the counsel, Mr. Black, came in. After waiting for the arrival of Judge Black, Mr. Sharkey said he saw no necessity for arguing the McArdle case any further, and so far as he was concerned he should merely like the privilege of filing a few authorities for himself. In the absence of Judge Black he was willing to submit it on a memorandum. Judge Miller asked Mr. Carpenter whether he was satisfied with that? Mr. Carpenter did not think he was. The matter ought to be presented on both sides. Judge Miller understood Mr. Carpenter to suggest yesterday that the matter should not be argued, but the Court should settle the matter for itself. Mr. Carpenter replied he did not suggest what course should be pursued. Judge Sharkey remarked—Judge Black is not here. Judge Clifford asked why? Judge Sharkey said he had got out of a sick bed to come here. He repeated he had a little memorandum and handed it to the Court. He did not wish to interfere with Judge Black. The Court, after consultation, said: Inasmuch as the counsel are not prepared to argue the question, and as the Court was now approaching the end of the session, the case must of necessity go over till the next term. This was the opinion of the Court.

RESULT OF RECIPROCITY.

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day, in reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives asking him for a statement of the trade between the United States and the British and North American Provinces, transmitted a communication prepared by George W. Brega, in which the latter says he is satisfied, after a careful examination of returns since March, 1866, and a review of the effects which grew out of the reciprocity, it is undoubtedly for the interest of our citizens that the main features of that convention should be reviewed so far as legislative action of the Government can do so.

Accident at a Coal Shaft—Eleven Men Instantly Killed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SCRANTON, March 31.—By the breaking of a chain connected with the hoisting machinery at the Diamond coal mines, in this city, this morning, a platform containing seventeen men was precipitated to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of one hundred and eighty-five feet. Eleven were instantly killed, one has since died, and two more, it is thought, cannot live. They leave eleven widows and twenty-eight orphans.

Murderer Executed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—The execution of Donovan, for the murder of Squibb, took place to-day. He died protesting his innocence.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

Impeachment of the President—Progress of the Trial—Report of the Evidence—Question Raised as to the Power of the Chief Justice as Presiding Officer.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 31, 1868.

SENATE.

After a few petitions had been presented the Chair was taken by the Chief Justice. The Impeachment Managers and members of the House took their places. The gallery was about half full.

Mr. WILSON offered documentary evidence, including the Senate resolution of January 13th; extract from Senate journal, showing the action of the Senate thereon; copy of Secretary Stanton's Commission from President Lincoln, under which only, Mr. Wilson said, Mr. Stanton claims to hold his office.

W. J. McDonald was called and attested the notification of the President of the action of Congress, and also attested the service of the resolution of non-concurrence in the removal of Mr. Stanton by the President.

J. W. Jones, Deputy Marshal of the Supreme Court, was sworn. He testified he had known General Lorenzo Thomas for six years, and had served upon him the summons of the District Supreme Court on the 21st of February, about eleven o'clock at night, and made return, which was read.

The resolution of the Senate that the President had no power to remove Mr. Stanton, was then read.

E. E. Creery, an appointment clerk in the Treasury Department, was sworn. He testified to the form of appointment used in the Department prior to March, 1867.

Senators complained of not hearing and Mr. BUTLER offered to repeat what witness said.

Mr. EVARTS said he preferred to hear the witness himself.

Mr. STANBERY inquired what was the object of the testimony?

Mr. BUTLER replied it was to show that after the passage of the Tenure-of-office act the President signed a different form of Commission, made in accordance with said act, thereby recognizing its binding force and legality.

Witness testified to the changes indicated, which were read by Secretary Forney. The words stricken out were "during the pleasure of the President for the time being."

The form of Commission for Treasury appointments was also produced and the witness testified to the striking out of the words above quoted, and the substitution in their place of the words "unless this commission be sooner revoked by the President of the United States, for the time being."

The Commission issued to Mr. Cooper, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Nov. 20th, 1867, was produced.

Mr. BUTLER, continuing to examine, asked if the Senate was then in session?

Witness said he thought not, and in answer to another question said Mr. Cooper did not qualify under that Commission, but under another, which was then read.

Mr. BUTLER then called for the reading of the letter of authority given to Mr. Cooper by the President on December 2d.

Witness testified Mr. Chandler resigned, he thought, a day or two before this letter.

Cross-examined by Mr. CURTIS.

Witness stated the date when the change in the form of Commission was made was the 6th of March, 1867.

Mr. Burt Vanhorn, Member of the House of Representatives, stated he was present at the War Department on Saturday, the 22d day of February, 1868, at ten minutes past eleven o'clock, when Lorenzo Thomas demanded of Mr. Stanton the possession of the office of Secretary of War. He testified that General Thomas, after exchanging salutations with those present, said to Mr. Stanton, "I am Secretary of War ad interim, appointed and authorized by the President to take possession of this office." Mr. Stanton ordered him to repair to his room and perform his duties as Assistant Adjutant General, which he refused to do, saying he intended to exercise the functions of Secretary of War, and would receive the mails of the Department. Mr. Stanton told him he would do so at his peril. Mr. Thomas left the room and witness last saw him in the room of General Schriver.

On cross examination by Mr. STANBERY, the witness said he went there to pay a visit to Mr. Stanton—not on public business; was accompanied by Messrs. Moorhead and Clark; did not know what their business was; did not state what they went for; he was not in the habit of taking memoranda of conversations; was prepared by having a large envelope in his pocket; no one requested him to do it; it was about a minute after Gen. Thomas left the room that Mr. Stanton followed him; before he reached the room he heard a conversation going on between Mr. Stanton and General Thomas; did not understand what was said; did not know where the envelope on which he took the memoranda was; it was probably destroyed; he said he went with Mr. Stanton to General Schriver's room, and was requested by Mr. Stanton to take notice of the question he was about to ask General Thomas, which was whether he intended to obey his orders as Secretary of War; Thomas replied he did not; also said he intended to receive the mails, and acknowledged to the witness he had said so.

Cross-examined by Mr. STANBERY—Witness had been at the Department half an hour before Gen. Thomas came; he was not attended, nor was he armed, so far as witness could see. Witness thought that there had been some conversation between Mr. Stanton and General Thomas in General Schriver's room, before he entered; it was of a good natured character; he thought there had been some joking between them.

Walter A. Burleigh, Delegate from Dakota, was examined.

Mr. STANBERY wanted to know the object of this examination as to the conversation between witness and General Thomas?

Mr. BUTLER replied, to show the intent and purpose of General Thomas was to take possession of the War Department by force.

Mr. STANBERY objected to the testimony, and the objection was sustained by the Chief-Justice.

Senator DRAKE said the question should be submitted to the Senate, and appealed from the decision of the Chair.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said it was his duty under the rule.

Senator DRAKE said there was nothing to give the Chief Justice that right.

Senator JOHNSON called Senator Drake to order, on the ground that he could not debate the question.

The CHIEF JUSTICE arose and said he, as Chief Justice of the United States, was delegated by the Constitution to preside over the Court of Impeachment when the President was being tried, but, when so presiding, he became President of the Senate, sitting as a High Court of Impeachment. When a point of evidence, of form, or law came before the Court, in the first instance the Chief Justice was the proper person to decide it, and then the Senate, on its being submitted to them at the suggestion of a member.

Mr. BUTLER proceeded to quote from various cases of impeachment to show that the presiding officer of the impeachment court had no right to decide questions of law or evidence. Mr. Butler complained that the Managers of the House would be bound hand and foot by this decision, and would be unable to get objections considered, unless by the courtesy of a member of the Senate.

The CHIEF JUSTICE then stated the point raised for the decision of the Senate.

Senator DRAKE objected to the ruling of the chair.

The CHIEF JUSTICE called the Senator to order.

Senator CONKLING called for the reading of the seventh rule, and it was read.

Mr. BINGHAM maintained the rule only authorized the Chair to submit questions to the Senate when the yeas and nays were not called for by one-fifth, and that the Constitution itself, in saying the Senate should have the sole power to try impeachment, settled the whole question. The rulings of Parliament decided the presiding officer had no part in passing on questions of law and fact, but was there only in a ministerial capacity, with no right to make a decision. He contended it was a matter of great importance whether the House could reach the Senate directly, or whether the Chief Justice could stand between them, unless some Senator offered the Managers a courtesy. He protested against the House being bound and laid before the feet of any man, however high and pure he may be. If the precedent were established, we might some day have a Jeffries in the Chair. We have had a Johnson in the White House, and may have a Jeffries in the Chair of the Chief Justice.

The CHIEF JUSTICE put the question whether his decision should be sustained by the Senate.

Senator DRAKE said the presiding officer had made a decision which he had no right to make, but before he finished.

Senator WILSON moved to retire for consultation, but withdrew it, when,

Senator SHERMAN asked the Managers what were the precedents bearing on the question in the trial of impeachment in this country?

Mr. BOUTWELL said the Chief Justice did not preside as a member of the tribunal, for the Senate is given the sole power to try impeachment, which gave it the right to decide all questions as well as the question of guilt or innocence. He (Mr. Boutwell) did not object to the Chief Justice giving his opinion, or ruling, but it should be subject to the decision of the Senate.

Mr. BINGHAM read an abstract of authorities which he had collected touching this question.

Mr. BUTLER read from the report of the trial of Judge Chase an instance where the presiding officer had put a question to the Senate for decision without expressing his opinion.

Mr. EVARTS referred to Mr. Boutwell's acknowledgment that great inconvenience would result if the Senate decided in the first instance on all interlocutory questions; but said the counsel did not admit that this was merely a matter of convenience. It was a matter of right that the Chief Justice should decide such questions in the first instance.

Senator WILSON renewed his motion, that Senate retire for consultation vote taken by yeas and nays, and resulted—yeas 25, nays 25 as follows,

Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Buckalew, Cole, Conness, Corbett, Davis, Dixon, Edmunds, Fowler, Grimes, Hendricks, Howe, Johnson, McCreery, Morrill (Me.), Morrill (Vt.), Morton, Norton, Patterson (N. H.), Patterson (Tenn.), Pomeroy, Ross, Vickers, Williams and Wilson—25.

Nays—Messrs. Cameron, Cattell, Chandler, Conkling, Cragin, Doolittle, Drake, Ferry, Fessenden, Frelinghuysen, Henderson, Howard, Morgan, Nye, Ramsey, Saulsbury, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tifton, Trumbull, Van Winkle and Willey—25.

It being a tie vote, CHIEF JUSTICE voted aye, thus giving effect to the position assumed by him as his right to vote.

The circumstance created some flutter on the floor and much amusement in the galleries.

The Senate, headed by the Chief Justice, then, about three o'clock, retired for consultation. Soon after the galleries began to thin out, members of the House gathered in knots and indulged in boisterous conversation and the counsel for the President consulted quietly together.

One hour, two hours, three hours passed, and still the Senators did not return to their Chamber. The few spectators in the galleries dwadled listlessly, most of the members sought other scenes more charming, and the general appearance of things was listless and uninteresting.

At last, at twenty minutes past six, the Senate returned, and the CHIEF JUSTICE having called the body to order, said: The Senate has had under consideration the question which was discussed before it and has directed me to report the following:

Rule Seventh—The presiding officer of the Senate shall direct all necessary preparations in the Senate Chamber, and the presiding officer of the Senate shall direct all the forms of proceedings when sitting for the purpose of trying an impeachment, and all forms during the trial not otherwise specially provided for, and the presiding officer on the trial may rule on all questions of evidence and on incidental questions, which decision will stand as the judgment of the Senate for decision, and he may, at his option, in the first instance, submit any such question to a vote of the members of the Senate.

Mr. BUTLER intimated the Managers desired to retire for consultation.

Senator TRUMBULL said unless the Managers desired the Senate to continue in session, he would move an adjournment.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A joint resolution relieving the Quartermaster's Department from responsibility for hospital tents loaned to St. Louis, was referred to the Military Committee.

A resolution was adopted instructing the Ways and Means Committee to inquire into the expediency of amending the revenue law, so as prevent the transfer of special licenses.

A resolution was adopted that the Banking Committee inquire into the expediency of reducing the tax imposed on private banks.

Mr. LAWRENCE introduced a bill authorizing a Ship Canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio river. Referred.

The report of the Conference Committee on the Manufacturers' tax bill was made, explained by Mr. SCHENCK, and agreed to.

The House went into Committee and proceeded to the Senate.

Before going to the Senate, Mr. CULLOM introduced a bill to amend the act of July 27th, 1861, to indemnify States for expenses incurred by them in defense of the United States. Referred to Committee on Appropriations.

A resolution was adopted directing the Committee of Ways and Means to inquire into the expediency of making a large reduction in the force of the Internal Revenue Department.

Mr. SPALDING introduced a joint resolution imposing a duty of two dollars a barrel on petroleum intended for transportation. Referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

The House resumed its session at twelve minutes past six, and Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole, made the usual report about the Committee attending the Senate Chamber.

Mr. PAYNE, from the Reconstruction Committee, presented the Constitution of Florida, with the proceedings of the Convention, and asked that they be printed. It was so ordered.

At half-past six o'clock the House adjourned.

STEUBENVILLE.

The Mining of Coal—The Lecture Season—The Question of Color—The Female Seminary and the Proficiency of its Scholars, &c., &c.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

STEUBENVILLE, March 29, 1868.

This quiet and pleasant little city does not furnish much material for a letter. The most of your readers know well how beautifully it is situated on one of the most graceful curves of the delightful Ohio. The view of the high and abrupt bank on the opposite side contrasts well with the gentle sweep of the river above and below.

Steubenville has furnished to the State and nation many men of great usefulness and distinction. Manufacturing is receiving more attention than formerly. The mining of coal with a 250 feet shaft is a decided success. Sixty men are employed, who, working ten hours per day, furnish five thousand bushels of coal per day, with a very handsome profit.

Steubenville has been favored this winter with a course of lectures by some of our most able writers and speakers. Phillips, Emerson and Douglass have been here. One of our hotels was willing to entertain the latter gentlemen on condition that he should not come to the table with the other guests. Wasn't this an insult to the white half of him, which is of royal Southern and Senatorial blood? Would it not be well to arrange so as to degrade the negro half and honor the white half?

But Steubenville is especially distinguished for its Female Seminary, which for forty years has been sending forth intelligent Christian women to exert their influence for good in our own and in other lands. Its venerable founder with his excellent companion still lives to see the great and good influences of the institution so carefully watched over for many years by them, and to receive the benedictions of hundreds of its living alumnæ. If he who plants a tree blesses his race, how much more does he who founds an institution which produces annually precious fruit—intelligent, true, noble women. We can now call to mind a village which for many years enjoyed the advantages of an educator of the first class—one who inspired the same enthusiasm in others he himself possessed, and the young ladies of the place were remarkable for their intelligence and nobility of mind and character. They were far superior to those of any other place in all that section of the country. Steubenville is fortunate in having now, and having long enjoyed the blessings of a first class Female Seminary. Its graduates already number 517. Thousands besides have attended it, and the people are proud of its high standing. The anniversary this week drew crowds to the church to listen to the baccalaureate by its able Principal, and to the examination of the classes, the reading of the essays, and the musical performances. All were of a high order, and clearly showed that it more than maintains the character it had in former years. The classes showed that they had been thoroughly taught, and that the seventeen teachers had proved themselves able in their several departments. None but the best teachers are employed. A table uniformly well furnished, and the daily practice of gymnastics serves, to give sound and healthy bodies, without which the intellectual training can profit but little. Thoroughness, real solid attainments, are here secured. We believe parents can find few better places for the health, happiness and true progress of their daughters

Canada Extradition Case—New Postage Act.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OTTAWA, March 31.—The case of Allen M'Donald, held here under a demand from the United States for extradition, came up to-day. The Attorney General said the government would give full consideration of the whole case before any action would be taken.

The new postage act goes into effect to-morrow, reducing the postage on letters from five to three cents.

THE INTERNAL TAX BILL.

THE LIST OF FREE GOODS.

The report of the Second Conference Committee on the amendatory tax bill was agreed to by the Senate on Monday, and by the House yesterday.

This bill, which remits the Internal Revenue duty now imposed on almost every manufactured article, was presented to the House by Mr. Schenck, on the 12th instant, was then referred to the Committee of Ways and Means, and subsequently reported back and passed. In the Senate, it was sought to amend by retaining the tax on coffee, spices, sugars, confectionary, diamonds, precious stones, imitations thereof, and all jewelry, but the amendment failed. Finally, the Senate proposed to amend the bill by reducing the tax on the products of petroleum and other bituminous substances to one-half that now imposed, This amendment passed the House, as did also an amendment reported by the Committee of Ways and Means imposing a tax of $2 on every $1000 worth of sales of manufactures in excess of $5000 annually. An additional section was also passed whereby the fraudulent distillation of spirits renders the distillery and apparatus liable to confiscation, and imposes a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5000 on the distiller, beside subjecting him to imprisonment, on conviction, for a term of not less than six months nor more than six years.

This has been further amended so as to inflict imprisonment and fine upon all distillers, Government officers and others connected with or colluding in frauds, and forfeit the distilleries in such cases. Other punishments are stricken out. Besides this, an amendment was passed, forbidding the allowance in future of any drawback on account of Internal Revenue tax heretofore paid on manufactures exported, and which by the operation of this law are now relieved from such tax. The tax is removed from all articles of domestic manufactures except that imposed on "gas made by coal, wholly or in part, of any other material, or illuminating, lubricating, or other mineral oils, or articles the products of distillation, redistillation, or refining of crude petroleum, or of a single distillation of coal, shale, peat, asphaltum, or other bituminous substaces" (which are to pay one-half the tax hitherto imposed,) on wines, tobacco, and all manufactures thereof. Another amendment provides that in cases where contracts for the manufacture of machinery have been made or may be entered into with the United States Government prior to April 1, 1868, the tax imposed on the same by the present law shall not be remitted. Manufactured lumber, and flour are to remain free as under the present law.

The bill is to go into operation on the 1st of April 1868. The following list comprises the manufactures which are hereafter to be "free goods:"

A New Fashion.

[From the New York Sun.]

The latest freak of female fashion has not yet made its appearance in our streets, but we presume we shall not have to wait for it very long. It is the revival of the old-fashioned hoops, or, as the French call them, panniers or baskets, which were first in vogue in France a hundred and thirty years ago, and were afterwards a favorite article of dress with the beautiful Antoinette and her ladies just before the revolution of 1790. They consist simply of a circular frame work of whalebone, or other suitable material, fastened around the person beneath the waist and above the hips, extending equally in every direction, and producing an extraordinary enlargement and rotundity of the figure. When the fashion was at its extreme, the rule was that the diameter of the pannier should be equal to the height of the wearer; but this extravagance was adopted only by the more ultra and dashing ladies of the time. The introduction of this mode at the present day is the work of the Empress Eugenie, who seems to exercise a more despotic sway over the women of the civilized world than her stern and unscrupulous husband has ever been able to wield over the French nation. As yet, she has been followed in this last innovation only by the ladies of Paris; but the rest of womankind are sure to hasten to imitate their example. According to a trustworthy authority concerning fashion, the Journal of Commerce, the whole fashionable world of that city has been quick to put on panniers, although to many they are anything but becoming. "Not only the young and the sylph-like," says this writer, "but the middle-aged and the stout sport panniers; the latter rendering themselves absolutely ridiculous in a costume which requires to be worn with all the grace and ease for which Her Majesty is so distinguished to render it presentable." This reminds us of the introduction of crinoline by the same imperial dictatrix. At first that novelty made all women appear very strange, and some supremely ugly; but by degrees we became used to it, and now there are those who think the fashion beautiful; and so we dare say, it will be with the panniers. We live and learn.

Fiendish Outrage.

On Monday last, four men, who are said to hail from Michigan, perpetrated a diabolical outrage on the person of a young farmer's wife, residing near Bothwell, a town about 60 miles east of Detroit, on the line of the Great Western railway. Shortly after noon, when the young woman was alone, four beasts in human form entered the house seized the unfortunate lady and outraged her in the most cruel manner, The news reached Bothwell, a nnmber of men started in pursuit of the ruffians, and overtook and captured them after a sharp resistance, as they were walking eastward on the track of the Great Western railway. One of the ruffians had a revolver and another a bowie knife, which they threatened to use in their defence; but the pursuers were even better armed. A strong disposition to lynch the wretches was manifested, but better counsels prevailed, and they were conveyed to Chatham.—Detroit Post, March 26.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, facteries, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

J. B. HARRIS.

RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers continue to recede steady with seven feet ten inches in the Allegheny and seven feet six inches in the Monongahela. At Oil City, but thirty inches reported. The weather continues clear and pleasant, and business is still fairly active at the landing, though it is beginning to fall off somewhat.

The arrivals include the Emma No. 2 and New York, both from Cincinnati. The Emma has been absent for something like a year, during which time she has been engaged in the Cincinnati and New Orleans trade. She looked remarkably well, however, and is regarded by steamboatmen as being one of the best stern-wheel boats on the western rivers.

The Glendale, for St. Louis, and the Kate Putnam, for Illinois river, departed, both with excellent trips, and engagements below.

The towboat Lioness, which cleared on Monday with a tow of coal, stuck a portion of her tow at Brunot, but succeeded in getting off again the same night. Yesterday morning she was lying at McKees Rocks awaiting for the arrival of some additional barges, preparatory to taking her departure.

The Ida Rees No. 2 arrived from Oil City yesterday forenoon, and the Echo cleared for the same point last evening. The Rees is the regular packet for to-morrow, leaving at 4 p. m., and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The St. Charles and Argosy, from Cincinnati, are among the first boats due. The St. Charles will be here in time to leave as usual on Friday at noon.

The America, Capt. Adam Poe, with the veteran Capt. Murdoch, in the office, will positively leave for Nashville to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The new steamer Andrew Ackley had steam up yesterday afternoon, and it is probable that she got off for Fort Benton last night.

The Glasgow, Capt. Geo. W. Johnston, will be the first boat out for the Upper Mississippi, and it is expected that she will get off to-morrow evening. The Glasgow is a good and reliable boat, and offers superior accommodations to passengers.

The Ida Rees, Capt. Albert, of the "Rees Line," will be the first boat out for Fort Benton. She is now ready for engagements. The Rees will be followed by the Importer, Capt. Williams, and Silver Lake, Captain Todd, of the same line.

The Armadillo, from St. Louis, is due here to-day, and as will be seen by reference to card, she is announced for the Missouri river—Capt. D. L. Hendrickson in command.

We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial of Monday: Messrs. N. & E. W. Parker, on Saturday, sold the towboat Petrel No. 2 to the Pomeroy Salt Transportation Co., for $15,000. The towboat Sam Parker takes the place of the Petrel No. 2, in the Kanawha River and Pomeroy trade, It was rumored along the levee yesterday, that Captain Rusk had traded the Emperor to Capt. Val. Horton for his interest—one-third of the Alaska. The levee and Covington bridge were thronged with thousands of visitors yesterday afternoon, who were down viewing the flood. The St. Charles, from Pittsburgh, and St. Marys, from Wheeling, came in with fair trips. The St. Charles returns to Pittsburgh to-day, while the St. Marys departed for St. Louis, with Jerry Mason and Geo. Clark at the wheel. The Maggie passed up from St. Louis for Pittsburgh, with a full cargo. The Kate Robinson also arrived from Louisville, and is announced for Pittsburgh to-day.

John Miller, a striker, accidently shot himself while fooling with a pistol, killing him instantly, on board the steamer Saint Joseph, near White Cloud, a few days since.

The Memphis Appeal, of the 27th, says: Major Mart. Walt yesterday sold to Capt. Rupe Haynes one-quarter of the Mary Irwin, at the rate of $17,000 for the boat. The Irwin will load at Cincinnati for the Arkansas, and Captain Haynes will assume command on her arrival at this port.

The Mound City Journal is responsible for the following: Notwithstanding the earnest efforts of Capt. David Hiner, while at Washington, to bring about a reconciliation between the President and Secretary Stanton, they are as wide apart as ever, and the impeachment business is progressing. How unreasonable.

The towboat Mary Alice, with 3 barges laden with iron ore, from St. St. Louis, and the Collier with a similar load, from the same port, ascended the falls at Louisville, bound for Pittsburgh. The Mary Alice has been a long time on the way, and has had a tedious trip.

The Lafayette Journal says: The Wabash is now higher than it has been at any previous time this spring. The bottoms opposite the city are almost entirely under water.

The Argosy left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday night with all the freight she could carry, icluding 800 bales of cotton. The Leonidas cleared the same day for this port, and the Maggie Hays on Sunday.

The Silver Cloud No. 2 left Cincinnati for St. Louis on Saturday, and the Wild Duck followed on Sunday.

The Kate Robinson left Louisville for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

The Lorena and Yorktown arrived at St. Louis on Saturday, from Pittsburgh; the Mary Davage left there the same day for Pittsburgh, as did also the Carrie, for Fort Benton.

A late Memphis paper says: A Cairo paper has been calling the captain of one of the Memphis and St. Louis packets to account for putting a destitute woman with two children and another in prospect, ashore in the woods a short distance below Cairo. It is claimed on the part of the captain that Cairo officials would have fined him $100 had he landed the woman there, and as Cairo was her destination, he did the best he could for the woman, without incurring the fine, in landing her within easy distance of the city. It is also stated that she was put ashore near a house, and that the deck hands built her a fire and gave her provisions.

ORDINANCES.

ALLEGHENY.

AN ORDINANCE to authorize the Grading and Paving of ALLEGHENY AVENUE.

SEC. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Allegheny, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Committee on Streets be and they are hereby authorized and directed to invite and receive proposals for the grading and paving of Allegheny avenue, from Ridge street to Western avenue, and the paving of Allegheny avenue from Western avenue to the river, and to contract therefor with the lowest and best bidder or bidders, at their discretion.

SEC. 2. That for the purpose of defraying the cost and expenses of the said improvements, there be and is hereby levied a special tax, to be equally assessed upon the several lots bounding and abutting upon the said avenue respectively, in proportion to the feet front in them respectively comprised, and bounding and abutting as aforesaid.

SEC. 3. That as soon as the cost and expenses of said improvements shall be fully ascertained, it shall be the duty of the Street Commissioner to assess and apportion the same among the several lots bounding and abutting upon said avenue respectively, according to the rule above indicated, and thereupon proceed to make demand and collect the same, according to the provisions of the Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An Act defining the manner of collecting the expenses of grading and paving of the streets and alleys of the City of Allegheny, and for other purposes," passed the thirtieth day of March, 1852.

SEC. 3. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law this the 26th day of March, A. D. 1868.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 138¼.

A GOOD MANY people at Washington, and probably elsewhere, believe that the BELMONT bondholding wing of the Democracy made a square purchase of enough votes, in their National Executive Committee, to ensure the selection of New York for the session of the Presidential Convention.

FAST UPON the heels of the not over decorous funeral ceremonies with which the "bond-barons" have shovelled the dirt over the late Mr. PENDLETON, follows their announcement of SEYMOUR and HENDRICKS as the ticket which the party are expected to vote for. The New York Convention is likely to be a very tame affair, the throat-cutting having all been done in advance.

IT IS CONCEDED by all candid men at Washington that Gen. BUTLER'S opening argument for the Impeachment on Monday was an effort of remarkable ability in the statement of facts and of unanswerable logic in its deductions. Although its great length and the unattractive style of the delivery were calculated to weaken the effect of any ordinary argument, yet, in spite of these, he held the Senate and the entire audience in deep, unbroken silence for three hours, a silence interrupted only by frequent evidences of sensation among the counsel for the accused. These gentlemen made copious notes, evidently finding full occupation in observing all that should require a reply. This fact conveys the clearest proof of the damaging effect of his argument.

THE REFORM OF THE IRISH CHURCH was brought up for discussion in the English Commons on Monday, as heretofore appointed. Mr. GLADSTONE very heartily advocated the entire repeal of all acts making that Church a State establishment, while Lord STANLEY moved the postponement of the question to another session, in order to admit a report from the Commission to which the affairs of that Church have already been referred. The debate was at last adjourned indefinitely, without any decisive action. The tone of this telegraphic report, as a whole, does not afford any encouragement for the belief that the unison of Church and State will soon be abandoned as a political principle or a proper development of Christian progress in any portion of the British Empire.

THE TRIAL.

The Managers of Impeachment proceeded yesterday with the introduction of testimony, much of which was of a documentary character, followed by the oral examination of witnesses. We publish elsewhere a full report. The trial will probably continue throughout this month. The design of protracting it by a call for distant witnesses, of which the President's counsel are accused, will be defeated, it is understood, by the Managers, who propose to admit all that such witnesses are expected to prove.

THE INTERNAL TAX BILL.

We give much space to the list of "free goods" relieved from the internal tax after the 1st of April. We reprint the entire list on an inside page of this paper, and commend it to our readers as well worthy of an examination. The bill itself, which has been so long under discussion between the two Houses, has been adopted finally, upon the recommendation of a second Committee of Conference, with some slight amendments, principally relating to the whisky tax. Its full text as amended is not yet at hand, but the telegraph has given us the substance of the amendments, which are duly noted in the proper place.

THE FREE RAILROAD BILL DEAD.

On Monday the tomahawk of Governor GEARY smote to death the Free Railroad Bill recently passed by both branches of the Legislature. The announcement of this fact excited in us no surprise, for authentic reports had previously reached us from Harrisburg that such was his intention.

The Governor was singularly lucky in the faults he discovered in the bill—1. That it was so stringent in its provisions as not to meet the requirements of the People; 2. That it was so liberal in its terms as to be offensive to existing Railway Monopolies. This is not the exact manner in which he formulates his objections; but when divested of all rhetorical ambiquities, this is the precise meaning his language conveys. Thus it will be seen that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Pittsburgh Commercial—the big and the little in opposition to this bill—severally find their gratification in what the Governor has done.

The Railway Corporations cared not a button by what reasons the Governor justified his refusal to sign the bill. What they wanted was the veto of it; and their desire has been realized. All thoughtful and genuine friends of freedom in railroad buildings deplore the action of the Governor in this matter.

In the House, upon the reading of the veto, Mr. JENKS brought forward his original Free Railroad Bill, and it was at once passed, under a suspension of the rules, as it was once before. He stated that the Governor would sign it if it should be passed. What the Senate will do with it remains to be seen. It refused to accept Mr. JENKS's bill; but it may recede in view of the altered circumstances of the position. The session is near its close, and the Governor's veto was delayed, we presume, unavoidably, to the last day allowed by the Constitution. Still, we trust the Senate will promptly pass the bill.

DIXMONT—ONCE MORE.

Yesterday, we mentioned the intention of many members of the Legislature to incorporate into the appropriation now asked for Dixmont Hospital a provision securing to the Commonwealth a representation in the management of that Institution proportionate to its contributions; and this intention we approved. At the same time we suggested that practical difficulties would be encountered in adjusting the details of this arrangement. The chief of the difficulties arises out of the fact that a number of benevolent gentlemen have acquired rights as managers by contributing to its revenues, and to increase the managers on behalf of the State ratably would expand the Board into a small mass meeting. It will be found, in the end, that co-operative action on the part of these individual contrrbutors and the State will be requisite in order to establish a satisfactory basis for concurrence between public and private beneficence.

In the same article we estimated the moneys contributed by the State to the Hospital, inclusive of the appropriation now asked, at $1,000,000. In this we did not aim at being precise, but to make a rough approximation. It seems we overstated materially the aggregate contributions of the Commonwealth. Up to the present time the appropriations by the Legislature, for the erection and furnishing of the new house, have amounted to $335,913.50. In addition $6,000 have been given to erect a dwelling house for the Superintendent, but not yet used; $12,000 have been given to cover deficit on public patients; $97,428 to pay salaries and wages, since 1857, a period of twelve years; and $30,000 for salaries and the introduction of water into the old Ninth ward hospital, and fitting it specially for the insane, making an aggregate of $481,341.50.

The new house cost, up to January 1, 1868, $370,435.84; of which $325,913.50 have been furnished from the public treasury; showing that $34,522.34 were derived from private sources.

This statement does not include the cost of the site, about three hundred acres in extent of valuable land, proximate to Pittsburgh, which was paid for by private benefactions.

The $100,000 now asked for will not complete the East wing. Indeed, one-half of that sum is specifically designated as applicable to other objects, leaving $50,000 only to go towards the completion of the building, which will do no more than carry up the walls and put on the roof, making the appropriation of at least $50,000 more necessary before the wing will be ready for occupancy. This will carry the total of State contributions up to say, $630,000, instead of a million, as we stated.

This aggregate is not all chargable to Dixmont Hospital, but covers the appropriations made to the Ninth ward establishment. It also covers the salaries of officers and wages of employes at Dixmont and the Department for the Insane at the Ninth Ward Hospital since 1852.

Now, we thought and still think, that the State, contributing to this magnitude, ought to be potentially represented in the Board of Managers; not, by any means, to the exclusion of individual donors, but ratably to them. The Institution is of mixed character—partly public and partly private; and this fact the State is just as much bound to recognize as the individuals who have added to the endowment.

There is another thought in this connection which is of consequence. The gentlemen who are now Managers by personal contributions, will naturally pass away in the course of comparatively a few years. Their places may be supplied by other contributors possessing equal liberality and disinterestedness. But a time may possibly come when men of a very different sort will perceive an opportunity to obtain the control of the house, for unworthy ends, by contributing to its funds, expecting to indemnify themselves afterwards by a misapplication of the trust. This consideration points to the need there is for the existing management to adopt precautions against such a possibility. The measure we urge would effectually guard against such a result.

From our knowledge of the men most prominent in the management—from their sagacity, probity and straight-forwardness—we are satisfied they see the liability to this contingency, and will heartily assent to the arrangement proposed.

On the other hand, the State ought not to take the House altogether out of the category of a Private Establishment. Individual contributions purchased the large domain and have helped to build the Hospital. An expectation, not devoid of foundation, exists in well-informed circles that the Hospital will ultimately, and before many years, receive increased private benefactions.

The Managers now hold in trust $30,000, the proceeds of which are devoted to supplying the poor of Pittsburgh and vicinity with coal, and hopes are entertained that this sum will be doubled within a short period.

In view, therefore, of all the facts, as they appear to us, we urge the Legislature to make the appropriation now asked, but conditioned on the right of such representation of the Commonwealth in the Board of Management as shall at any time hereafter be thought just and expedient.

Even if the new house at Wilkesbarre, or somewhere in that vicinity, shall be decided upon, the completion of Dixmont is imperatively demanded, and with the least possible delay. With the west wing in use the pressure upon the house is not permanently abated. Previously the wards were necessarily so crowded as to render it impossible to take such care of many of the inmates as was desirable, and with the natural increase the other wing will be required before it can possibly be finished.

A TRIBUNAL DEGRADED.

The shameful distinction of having delivered the first stump-speech which has ever been heard from the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, belongs to the "venerable" Judge GRIER. This high functionary, on Monday, sitting in his official robes on the justice-seat of the highest tribunal in the land,—in a temple dedicated to the severe majesty, the reticent dignity, the stern impartiality of the law, a temple consecrated by JAY, MARSHALL, STORY and a long line of jurists the most eminent for their wisdom and unbending devotion to the severest interpretation of judicial right—in such a forum, surrounded by his associates, this Judge has dared to discard all the precedents of eighty years, and to pronounce against a co-ordinate department of the Government a phillippic worthy only of the hustings. Of this remarkable exhibition of partizan rancor and extra-judicial spleen, we have the following report in yesterday's Pittsburgh Post:

After colloquy between Chief Justice CHASE, Justice FIELD and Judge BLACK, the venerable Judge GRIER said he desired to submit the following paper, viz:

Ex parte, Wm. H. McArdle. The case was fully argued in the beginning of this month. It is a case which involves not only the liberty and rights of the appellants in this case, but of millions of our fellow-citizens. The country has a right to expect that it would receive the immediate and solemn attention of the Court. By the postponement of this case, this Court will subject themselves, whether justly or unjustly, to the imputation that we have evaded the performance of a duty imposed upon us by the Constitution, and waiting for legislative interposition to supersede our action and relieve us from our responsibility. I can only say, pudet haec opprobriae dici et non potuise repelli, which literally translated is, "I am ashamed such an opprobrium should be cast upon the Court and that it cannot be refuted."

We have no hesitation in characterising this ex-parte statement, by Judge GRIER, as an altogether unnecessary, impertinent and unjustifiable assault upon Congress, which has exercised only its lawful discretion in divesting the Court of a power very recently conferred, and which there were very good reasons for believing was likely to be abused. It is also a reflection upon his brother Judges, alike undignified and unjust, since it arraigns them as lacking in judicial independence or any suitable regard for their duty. It is also, in fine, the ebullition of a politician foiled in an intrigue, rather than the grave and measured discharge of a strict legal duty.

Until this scene two days since disgraced the Supreme tribunal, dishonoring the Judiciary, and at one blow smiting down fatally and forever the popular respect, we have for eighty years reposed an unshaken confidence in its dignified disregard of passing events in the world without its walls. But it seems that Justice is no longer with blinded eyes to hold evenly the scales between its suitors. The historic bandage is torn off and she looks with eyes greedy with desire or angry with rage at suitors who are now to be taught that they must come to her shrine not with empty hands, pleading only the law, but armed it may be with bribes or commended by partizan sympathy. Judge GRIER, a Pennsylvanian we regret to add, has the unenviable distinction of thus destroying the traditions of ages, sanctioned as they are by the approving consent of the most advanced civilization of to-day, and of degrading the highest Conrt of the Republic into a mere political arena. He has taken the short but decisive step and the worst results may now legitimately follow. This attack upon Congress is not a judgment, not even a dictum; it is simply a political harangue, which would have exactly fitted the lips of ELDRIDGE, BROOKS or GARRETT DAVIS. He has opened a door which can never again be closed, or if closed could the people be made to believe it. How long will it be before other Judges will follow his example, and the bench be dishonored by a partizan debate? Let us thank those of his associates whose higher regard for official dignity forbade them to express their disapproval of his utterances then. But such forbearance is not always to be counted on. Bad examples are irresistibly contagious. Judge GRIER or his imitators will provoke dissent and retort. When will that thing end? Where can it end, except in the irreparable disgrace of a tribunal which, so degraded, were better to be destroyed.

THE ACTION of the House relative to Alabama, on Saturday last, meets the very general concurrence of the Republican press, and it is likely to prove satisfactory to the whole country. To the loyal population of that State it will be specially acceptable, since their civil administration is to be, immediately and completely, although provisionally, placed in the hands of State officers of their own choice, while it also requires another trial of strength between the loyal and rebel classes of their people, and holds the federal relations of the State in suspense until it shall be clearly and exactly known where the majority stands. The rebels must retrace every step of the last twelve months before they can hope to enjoy again any practical relations to a Federal existence. They need no longer hope to make their restoration a step towards the reduction of the State once more to the rebel rule. The loyal apprehension on this point has been well-grounded, but, under the new bill, no longer exists. We trust that the Senate will concur in it with the least possible delay.

—At the close of the present session of the State Legislature the terms of Messrs. Browne, Connell, Cowles, Landon, McConaughy, Ridgway, Shoemaker, White and Graham, Republican Senators, expire, as do the terms of Messrs. Glatz and Wallace, who are Democrats.

FOR PUBLISHING certain statements, from its Washington correspondent, G. A. TOWNSEND, which are alleged to be libellous in their character, legal proceedings have been commenced by Senator WADE against the Cleveland Leader. Our cotemporary's apprehensions that the Senator is proposing to mount "an autocratic throne" should be entirely relieved by this proof that the would-be autocrat is still content with the ordinary redress of John Doe and Richard Roe.

THE CLERK of the House of Representatives, Hon. Edward S. McPherson, is thus spoken of by a Washington correspondent for a Western journal:

He is a small, or rather a slim man, of florid complexion and light auburn hair, an editor at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and an ex-member of the House of Representatives. His newspaper is stoutly Republican, but he never uses it in other interests than those of the principles of his party. McPherson keeps his place by his own manliness, and the Representatives are almost ignorant that he has a paper at all. Mr. McPherson is a literary man of great industry, having compiled several large books upon the war and legislation.

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE—A recent communication published in one of our city papers intimates that it is doubtful whether or not the Hon. James L. Graham will be a candidate for re-election to the office of State Senator. I am authorized to state that Mr. Graham, in compliance with the solicitation of numerous personal and political friends, has consented to be a candidate for the nomination. He has served his district and the State with distinguished honor, great ability and sterling integrity, and is deserving a unanimous re-nomination as a just recognition of faithful public services, fearlessly, earnestly and heartily rendered.

B.

The President's Counsel.

Jerry Black and his client, the Chief Magistrate, are friends no more. I knew a good while ago that when Black got credit for writing Johnson's vetoes, he had reached a dangerous eminence. Johnson began to dislike him out of jealousy. Black capped the climax of hate by borrowing an epithet from Ben Wade and calling Johnson a d—d fool. Therefore the lion of the tribe of David does not sit amongst the attorneys. The loss is only Johnson's, for Black is at once the most eloquent and the most practical of great attorneys—a man of no record in the cause of freedom, but illustrious in the law. He is a tall, grizzle-haired, big-nostriled, long-nosed man, who smokes perpetually, except when he chews. Being of a nervo-lymphatic habit, he sits down with his hat on around the hotel parlors, and rolls great clouds of meditative smoke, seldom conversing with any one, and then in a Diogenes-like way. In the Supreme Court he has a spittoon set in the middle of the floor, and walking up and down he talks with the precision of an Elizabethian dramatist, spitting as straight as a syllogism all the time. The power of his argument is measured by the number of spittoons he fills. A small and easily surmountable case takes two spittoons, a good tough argument requires four; for a great feat of legal gymnastics he requires as many as nine successive spittoons of the size of those great stone or India-rubber ones. In the McArdle case this great expectorationist is said to have spit even full eighteen vases. When he had reached the seventeenth the opposing counsel whispered: "We are gone up; he has another spittoon in reserve."

Jerry Black and Lynchburg tobacco reversed the McArdle decision. Little did Raleigh think, when he made this weed digestible, how he was affecting the destinies of a race and aiding a far future rebellion!

Black was one of the Cabinet officers of Buchanan, who kept his credit for loyalty. In 1861 he is said to have been so poor that he could not pay a hotel bill at Harrisburg. He went down to Little York, his homestead, and quartering his family as best he might, came to Washington to resume his practice. It is said to amount to one hundred thousand dollars a year. He is not a frugal man, neither profligate.

A living skeleton, a miniature man, a symmetrical dwarf, is Mr. Evarts; now head and front of Johnson's defence. He has a high, fine head set on his shoulders; spine and spindles like a bulb on a saracen tower. When he leans forward you can see the frailness of back, hollow and lean-ribbed; his legs are so slight that his trowsers hang like a Mexican's; delicate as a consumptive's is his frame, and his eye is of that brilliant beauty which consumptives have. But when he rises to plead, out of his girl's body comes a voice clear, musical and strong, saying sentences that seem almost carved of marble. He appeals to the grade of high principles, all his argument seemingly addressed to the mind of Justice itself. His fine brow and smooth, interesting face stand out very white and noble. It is like a dying man's plea, so spent seems nature, so concentrated the mind. Before his appeal mean motives and the perjured wish feel themselves in all their baseness. Mr. Evarts is a little like Alexander H. Stephens in his invalid appearance. Socially he is a delightful person. In this trial he seems to have taken the chief place as pleader. In politics he is a Republican.—G. A. T., Cleveland Leader.

The Democratic Election Frauds in Pennsylvania.

Our readers are aware that a contested election is in progress before a Committee of the Senate of Pennsylvania, in which enormous frauds were proved to have been perpetrated by the Democratic party.

A witness who disclosed his knowledge before the committee, was assassinated, and the Legislature have offered a reward of $3,000 for the apprehension of the murderer. Another feature of extraordinary character was disclosed by the evidence before the committee during the present week.

Michael O'Meara had testified to his knowledge of the distribution of large numbers of fraudulent naturalization papers, and had said that $500 had been given him by a Catholic priest to leave the State and not testify. This statement was scarcely credited, but the priest alluded to was himself brought before the Committee and admitted its truth. We give his testimony. It is as follows:

Rev. Thomas Tracy sworn—I am the priest in charge of the congregation at Clearfield; I did pay Michael O'Meara $500 before this investigation commenced; it was in his own house at Clearfield, in the evening, about a week before the trial; in consideration of it he was to leave the State, and to remain absent for three months; Mr. Borman, the boss of Collins on the railroad, gave me the money to give him for that purpose; I had conversations with the man who gave me the money; no other party had knowledge of the transaction that I know of; I had correspondence with Mr. Wallace on the subject of getting him to leave the State; I understand that he was to remain out until after this trial should cease; he is the only person that knew of the transaction that I am aware of; he was the only one that gave me any money, or authorized me to give any; he said as regards himself, he would not give any, as it was not necessary; I saw O'Gormon within two weeks, at Clearfield; I know James Collins; have seen him about two months ago; I do not know from whom the money came that Gormon paid me; the Mr. Wallace I mentioned was Senator Wallace, the Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee."

Murder did its work against one witness. Bribery failed as against the other. Heaven help our friends in this senatorial district, who have such agencies contending against them.—Phil. Bulletin.

Eclipse of the Sun.

The total eclipse of the sun which is to take place on the 18th of August next, will present such a long duration of darkness that astronomers are anticipating it with unusual interest. From near Aden, the central line of the eclipse extends to the Southern coast of New Guinea, crossing Hindostan, the Bay of Bengal, the Malayan peninsula and the Gulf of Siam on the way; and at certain places on this line the duration of total darkness will be 6 deg. 46 min. At the date in question, the moon will be not more than six hours from its perigree, while the sun will be not far from its apogee; a twofold condition which increases the apparent diameter of the sun nearly at its smallest. Hence the prolonged darkness. As such a chance occurs rarely, a strong desire exists to make the most of it in endeavors to solve certain highly important questions in physical science. M. Leverrier, of the Imperial Observatory, at Paris, recommends that some of the French ships in the Gulf of Siam should be employed in searching for a suitable place on the Eastern side of the Malayan peninsula for a complete series of observations. The English astronomers are also making preparations for observations in the track of the eclipse.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.

Second Day—Morning Session.

The Association met and was called to order by the Chairman. Prayer by Prof. Chamberlain. Music by the choir.

On motion of Mr. J. P. Andrews, a Committee of one teacher from each district was appointed to report the names and attendance of teachers from their respective districts.

Report on Written Arithmetic was next in order. In the absence of Prof. Logan, Mr. McCrum presented the subject. He said that the arrangement of a Written Arithmetic was of considerable importance. On the arrangement of the fundamental rules there was little or no difference, but in regard to the other topics there was quite a difference of opinion. The speaker held that as fractions were an expression of division they should occupy the next place following. Square and cube root should be so placed that they may subsequently, in the advancement of the study of the branch so frequently used, as to render them sufficiently familiar to the mind of the pupil that they may permanently remain. The speaker then presented his method of teaching numeration and notation to beginners. Also a short method of performing addition. Considerable discussion followed by Messrs. Lucky, Kelly, Jones and Squires.

Debate followed. Question—Should the minimum legal school term be increased to nine months? Mr. A. D. Glenn spoke in the affirmative and Mr. Montgomery in the negative. In general discussion Prof. Burt spoke.

Music—"Shout for our Banner."

Lecture by Rev. Dr. Sproull, of Allegheny. Subject—"How should the education of youth be conducted so as to accomplish its object?" He considered first, the object of education; second, the conditions; third, the agencies. Man should be educated intelligently, socially, physically and religiously. The teacher should be exemplary in cleanliness, morality and religion. The school room should be well ventilated, kept clean, comfortably seated, and in all points arranged with reference to comfort and convenience.

Improvements in agencies; books particularly have been improved. Grammars, geographies, arithmetics have been all well improved. The Doctor thought, however, that the supplanting of the Bible by reading books of human composition was injudicious and wrong.

Adjourned till 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Institute was called to order by the the Chairman, who stated that the first business in order was the election of an Examining Committee on Permanent Certificates.

Mr. McCrum, in behalf of the ticket on which his name appeared as a candidate, said that his ticket was not in favor of a rigid examination, as was intimated by the opposite party.

Mr. Burt, who favored the opposite ticket, took the floor and spoke at some length. He accused his opponents with dishonesty of purpose.

Mr. Still then took the floor, when a most disgraceful scene ensued. A general confusion was kept up throughout the Hall, solely for the purpose of "choking" the speaker off, and we regret to say that not a few of the female teachers engaged in it; but it was doubtless instigated by the males, as the sound of the "brogans" stamping upon the floor was the signal for commencing the confusion. The speaker said that the assertions made by Mr. Burt were wilfully false, after which the confusion became so intense that it was impossible for him to proceed.

A resolution having been adopted to proceed with the election, the balloting commenced.

The candidates were as follows: Profs. Geo. J. Luckey, G. N. Monroe, Robt. H. Kelly, J. F. McClymonds and W. A. Johnson, who composed what they term a liberal ticket.

The opposition ticket was Messrs. C. A. Chamberlain, E. M. Still, J. M. Logan, J. Allen McCrum and B. F. Gamber,

The balloting was concluded at four o'clock, when the polls were closed and the Institute called to order, with Mr. Luckey in the chair, who stated that he thought it better not to continue with the regular exercises, and the Institute would stand adjourned until the opening of the evening session.

EVENING SESSION.

The Institute convened at 7 o'clock, and was called to order by the Chairman, who announced the result of the election for Examining Committee, which was had during the afternoon session. The vote was as follows: C. A. Chamberlain, 177; E. M. Still, 176; J. M. Logan, 174; J. Allan McCrum, 175; B. F. Gamber, 173; Geo. J. Lucky, 265; Geo. N. Munro, 267; Robert H. Kelly, 267; J. F. McClymonds, 268; W. A. Johnson, 269.

Rev. Thomas K. Beecher delivered a lecture before the Institute. Subject: "A Search for Summer; or, what I saw in South America," which occupied the remainder of the session.

The following is the programme of exercises for to-day:

Morning Session—Prayer; Report on Mental Arithmetic, W. A. Johnson; General Discussion; Lecture—"The Mud Sill Principle of all right Teaching," Rev. Robert McMillan. Recess. Music; Debate—Would a thorough knowledge of the science of Phrenology aid the Teacher in his work?—affirmative, J. N. Conroy; negative, John Morrow; General Discussion; Lecture, Rev. T. K. Beecher.

Afternoon Session—Music; Report on Rhetoric, Miss Mary C. Hays; Essay—The Infinity of the Animal Kingdom, Miss Hattie McCain. Recess. Lecture, Rev. John Douglas, D.D.; Music.

Evening Session—Music. Debate—Should Military Spirit and Military Drill be encouraged in our Public Schools? Affirmative, C. A. Chamberlain; negative, S. Campbell; General Discussion; Lecture, Rev. B. M. Kerr; Answers to Queries; Metrical Critique, Miss Jennie Smith.

GOOD HEALTH

IS THE GREATEST OF ALL BLESSINGS,

And to preserve it is the privilege and duty of all.

DR. SARGENT'S

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC AND LIVER PILLS

Are the great sovereign, speedy and sure cure of the age, for Dyspepsia, either in its mildest or worst stages, and hundreds who have long suffered under the inflictions of this most annoying and dangerous disease, have by the use of this invaluable medicine been restored to health and the enjoyment of life.

Is your Liver in a torpid condition of inaction, thereby deranging the whole system?

DR. SARGENT'S LIVER PILLS

Will speedily remove the secretions and restore it to a healthy state.

Are you troubled with loss of appetite, foul stomach, eructations of wind, sick headache and general derangement of the digestive organs?

DR. SARGENT'S LIVER PILLS

Are a sure, safe and permanent remedy, and by their mild but certain action will cleanse, renovate and reinvigorate the system.

DR. SARGENT'S LIVER PILLS stand high as one of the standard medicines of the age. For the cure of all diseases arising from a disordered state of the liver, as can be attested by the certificates of large numbers of our citizens who have been benefited and cured by their use.

These Pills can be obtained, either Plain or Sugar Coated, from all Druggists in the country.

UNIMPEACHABLE.

Indigestion—the most fruitful generator of disease, so common as not to be considered dangerous—slowly and surely saps the foundation of health, for, with impaired digestion, it is impossible for food to afford strength to the system. Dyspepsia invariably follows this disease, and dyspeptics owe all their sufferings to indigestion. Nervous and sick headache also spring from derangement of the digestive organs. Persons of sedentary habits frequently suffer from these evils, which are attended with a nervous irritability of temper, extremely unpleasant to others and a source of misery to themselves. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has been found the safest and best means of removing all digestive obstructions, as well as bracing up the failing system. Those whose occupations are mental recognize in this preparation the perfection of medical skill, as it soothes the excited brain, headache disappears under its potent charm, and the patient rapidly regains health and strength by its restoring power. To the aged, as well as delicate ladies and children, it is admirably suited, as it possesses the quality of invigorating without excitement or reaction.

An immense amount of unimpeachable evidence can be produced to prove, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is unequalled for its prompt and ever reliable action in alleviating and curing all diseases of the stomach. Its superior excellence and consequent renown is readily accounted for, from the well known fact that it is made under the personal supervision of the proprietors, in strict accordance with pharmaceutic science.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. List these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

Lightning Rods

Munson's Copper Tubular Lightning Rod,

WITH

SPIRAL FLANGES,

Has been erected on thousands of buildings in all parts of the United States, and in a test of ten years no instance of their inefficiency has occurred. This Rod has received the First Premiums at the Fairs of nearly all the States, and every place it was ever exhibited. It has been endorsed by over five hundred Professors in Colleges, and other scientific men, as the best Rod ever invented, possessing all the elements necessary to protect buildings from lightning. It is made of copper, because this is the best metallic conductor, except silver, and does not rust. Its spiral flanges and rough edges dissipate electricity and double its conducting power. Electricity uses only the surface, never the heart of a metal. One flange of this Rod being open, the inside surface is available as well as the outside; altogether, its power surpasses twenty common iron rods or a solid copper rod an inch and a half thick, and has the additional advantage that it is continuous, and can never become disjointed or otherwise get out of order, but will endure as long as the building stands on which it is erected. Our points are made on the most approved method, and our insulators are unsurpassed.

No holes are made in slate or tin roofs.

Our customers will have the benefit of our new Insulator, patented in 187. The price is thirty cents per foot, and three dollars for each top; this includes the cost of putting the rod on buildings—there are no extra charges of any kind. Within the past few years we have erected this rod on many churches and other public edifices in Pittsburgh and vicinity, and upon thousands of dwellings and barns. For the superior character of this rod we are permitted to refer to Rev. L. G. Pershing, D. D., President Pittsburgh Female College; Philotus Dean, Esq., Professor Natural Sciences, Pittsburgh High School; Geo. Woods, LL. D., Pres't. Western University of Pennsylvania.

Thankful for the liberal orders of past years, we solicit a continuation of public patronage.

SILVER MINES.—We shall, in a few days, send an agent to Silver Mountain, Colorado, to develope ten different Lodes of Silver Ore, discovered and located by experienced miners and situated in an unusually rich mining district. It is intended to have them fully developed before going to the expense of erecting buildings, machinery, &c. For this development the Company have determined to sell a limited amount of the stock at a rate which will place purchasers on the same footing as the proprietors themselves. OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 31, 1868.

The gold market is fluctuating, opening at 138¾, declining to 138⅝, and closing strong at 138¾. Government bonds are rather weak, partly on account of the decline in gold, but also are the quotations lower in England and Frankfort, without any apparent cause but the impeachment trial. Stocks are higher, with an advancing tendency. Money is scarce, and almost not to be had except on first-class endorsed notes and collaterals.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz:

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 31, 1868.

CRUDE—The crude market was firm and moderately active to-day, and with sales of some six thousand barrels reported, prices, although unchanged are well sustained. We can report 2000 bbls, to be delivered between now and the first of June, seller's option, at 8¾c; 118 spot at 8½c, bbls returned; 2300 bbls to be delivered on first water at 8¾c; 650 bbls spot, at 8¾c; 1200 and 1000 first water, both at 8¾c. The above sales indicate pretty clearly that "spot" and "first water" is quotable at 8¾c, and we presume that a "line" of April, May and June would sell without much difficulty at 9c. It is said that the sales of spot oil reported yesterday at 8½c, was "riley oil," so that we, as well as others, were a little previous in reporting a decline of a quarter. The arrivals are commencing to fall off materially, in consequence of navigation being partially suspended by low water.

REFINED—The transactions in bonded oil were unusually large to-day, reaching seven thousand barrels in the aggregate, and as will be seen, prices are a shade better, and the market is firmer. We can report a "line" of 2000 bbls, 500 April, at 25½; 500 May, at 26c; 500 June, at 26½c; 500 July, at 27c; also, 1500—500 for May, at 26c; 500 June, at 26c; 500 July, at 27c; and 4000—1000 April, at 25½c; 1000 May, at 26c; 1000 June, at 26½c; and 1000 July, at 27c. We are cognizant of offers to buy at 31c, all the year, buyer's option, but no sellers.

—Since the above was put in type, we have the following additional sales reported: Crude—2800 bbls for first half of April, at 8¾c; and 1600 first water, at 8¾c. Refined—500 bbls for immediate delivery, at 25c.

OIL SHIPMETS PER A. V. R. R.

PITTSBURGH WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 31, 1968.

In this market the amount of Wool offering is so small, as yet, that we have but few transactions to report. During the past month or two the greater portion of the Wool in growers hands has been bought by agents of manufacturers and dealers at a range of 40c to 50c. We do not expect to see much activity until the next clip is ready for market, which will not be for two months to come. Our quotations are nominal, at 35c to 45c, for common to full blood, and choice clips at 50c. The eastern markets are reported firm with an improved demand, though as a general thing, prices are not much higher. As we have already intimated, it is too early yet to give the general tone of the trade, and there is not enough doing to establish quotations.

Louisville Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, March 31.—Tobacco active; sales of 264 hhds; lugs $5a7; leaf $9,50a20,75, for selections. Cotton 24½c. Flour; superfine $8,50; No. 1 $12,50. Wheat $2,40a2,45. Corn; shelled in bulk 81a82c. Oats 74c. Rye $1,85. Barley Malt free $2,90. Mess Pork $24,75a25,00. Lard; tierce 16¼c. Bacon; shoulders 11¾c; clear ribbed sides 14 3-4c; clear sides 15a15¼c, packed. Whisky nominal at $2,20.

Chicago Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, March 31.—Hogs quiet and 20a 25c lower, at $8,30a8,75 for medium to fair; $8,90a9,62 1-2 for good to choice. Beef cattle steady at $7a7,62 for medium to fair steers; $8.50a8,75 for good to choice.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 31, 1868.

With continued fine weather, out-door business is moderately active, though there is plenty of room for improvement. In the general markets there are no new features worthy of notice, either as regards demand or prices.

APPLES—In fair local demand but unchanged at $4 to $6 per bbl.

POTATOES—Sales of prime Peach Blows at $3,25 per bbl, and Buckeyes at $3,50. New Jersey Sweets, $8.

SEEDS—There is some little inquiry for Cloverseed, and we can report small sales at $8. Timothy is quiet at $2,75. Flaxseed is scarce and in active demand at $2,50.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged. Oats steady but no higher; 75c, on wharf and track, and 76 to 78c, in store. Corn is quiet; sale of 1 car, on private terms; 188 bushs Ear, on wharf, at 95c, and 400 do do at 98c. Barley is scarce and firm at $2,25 to $2,30. Rye is still quoted at $1,80.

HAY—Weighmaster McNulty, of the Allegheny Diamond Scales, reports sales of 63 loads of Hay at $22 to $30; 12 loads of Straw at $16 to $20, and 1 load of Husks at 4c per pound. We can also report one flatboat load Hay at $23.50.

BUTTER—Seems to be a little dull, notwithstanding the arrivals continue light. We continue to quote, however, at 50 to 55c for prime to choice.

EGGS—Unsettled and irregular, with sales at 20 to 22c.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm and in good demand but unchanged; we quote at 12c for Shoulders; 14 to 15½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 17¾c to 18c for Plain Sugar Cured Hams, and 18½ to 18¾c for Canvassed do. Lard, 16½c, in tierces, and 17c, in kegs. Mess Pork, $25,50.

LARD OIL—Manufacturers report the market steady at $1,05 for No. 2, and $1,33 for No. 1.

SALT—Allegheny river brands are quoted at $1,75 to $1,80 by the car and boat load, and $2 for small lots in store.

BEANS—Firm and in limited supply but unchanged at $4,50 to $5 per bushel.

HOMINY—Although in limited supply, is dull, and can hardly be quoted above $6,25.

FLOUR—Is quiet and unchanged; we quote good Spring Wheat at $10,50 to $10,75; choice do, $11 to $11,25; Winter Wheat, at $11,50 to $12,25, and fancy brands at $14 to $15. Rye Flour is firm at $9.

New York Produce Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 31.—Cotton a shade firmer; sales 900 bales at 27a27 1-2c; middling uplands chiefly 27 1-2c, closing quiet at that quotation. Flour—Receipts 3,791 bbls and 6,450 bags and opened a shade firmer; low grades closed dull and drooping for all kinds; sales 7,800 bbls at $9,35a9,75 for superfine State and western; $10,15a10,90 for extra State; $10a11,30 for extra western; $12a14 for white wheat; $10,15a10,25 for R. H. O.; $10,30a12 for extra St. Louis; $12,50a 15 for good to choice do; California without a change; sales 650 sacks at $12,15a12,25. Rye Flour steady; sales 300 bbls at $7,75a9,70. Corn Meal quiet. Whisky nominal. Wheat opened a shade firmer, closed dull and drooping; the extreme scarcity of freight room materially checks the export demand; receipts 36,039 bus; sales 35,600 bus at $2,44 a2,45 for No. 2 spring in store and delivered; $2,56a2,58 for No. 1 do. delivered: $2,69½ for amber Jersey; $3,20 for white California. Rye quiet. Barley dull. Barley Malt quiet. Corn; receipts 39,300 bus; dull and heavy and 2a3c lower; sales 38,7000 bushels at $1,22a1,25 for new mixed Western afloat, closing at $1,22a1,24; old do afloat at $1,26; new white southern and western $1,17 a1,20; western yellow $1,26a1,27. Oats; receipts 750 bush; 1c lower; sales 69,000 bush at 86c for western in store, and 88½c afloat. Rice firm at 10¾a11¼c for Carolina. Coffee firm; sales 500 sacks Rio on private terms. Sugar steady; sales 1,120 hhds at 10¼a12c for Cuba, and 12a12⅝c for Porto Rico. Molasses dull. Hops quiet, at 10a50c for American. Petroleum firm, at 12¼a13½c for crude, and 26c for refined bonded. Pork opened firmer and closed heavy; sales 3,850 bbls at $24,95a25,12 for new mess, closing at $24,95 cash, $28,75a24 old do, closing at $24 regular, $20,50a21,00 for prime, and $22,75a 23,00 for prime mess; also, 1,500 new mess, seller, May, at $25,30a25,40. Beef firm; sales of 340 bbls at previous prices; also, 110 tierces at $34a37 for prime mess, and $38 a40 for India mess. Beef Hams firm at $36a40, with sales of 180 bbls. Bacon firm and quiet, with sales of 370 boxes at 12¼a 12⅝c for Cumberland cut, and 15a15¼c for short clear. Cut Meats firm, with sales of 4,060 pkgs at 10¾a11¼c for shoulders, and 15¼a15⅞c for hams. Dressed Hogs dull at 12¼a12½c for city. Lard dull and drooping, with sales of 490 bbls at 15¼a16½c. Butter quiet at 20a42c for Ohio, and 40a54c for State, Cheese 13a16½c. Boston Wool Market.

The Advertiser says: The extensive sales and light receipts since January have so reduced the assortments of dealers that some of them have been obliged to become purchasers instead of sellers, and a considerable portion of the sales of last week have been to this class of buyers, and not to manufacturers. The stock of wool in first hands in this market is more than usually light, and all description below X are in brisk demand, and sell readily at an advance on last week's quotations. The sales of domestic fleece and pulled, foot up to 100,000 lbs, and there have been sales of nearly 1000 bales of foreign wool, mostly for carpet manufacturers. Included in the sales were 25,000 lbs fine Ohio at 58c; 6000 lbs ungraded Ohio at 50c; 5000 lbs X and medium Ohio at 51c; 2000 lbs No. 1 Ohio and 3000 lbs Western combing at 55c; 3000 lbs fine Indiana at 45c; and 3000 lbs Kentucky unwashed combing at 47½c.

An Interesting Correspondence Between Bishop Hopkins and Dr. Page.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Subjoined you will please find a letter to me from the late Bishop of Vermont, written in the Summer of '63. In a future number I will show how I replied to it, and how the Bishop's very sensitive disclaimer of Low Churchmanship is to be understood.

Yours, very respectfully,

DAVID COOK PAGE.

No. 158 Robinson street, Allegheny.

BURLINGTON, VT., June 8, 1863.

Reverend and Dear Brother:—I have a favor to ask of you, which I hope you will be able to grant, without too great a tax upon your time or your memory.

My family, especially my eldest son, have been importuning me for some years to write my biography, and, to some extent, I feel bound to gratify them. But the circumstances which attended my refusal to vote for myself after the clergy had chosen me for the office of Assistant Bishop in the Convention at Harrisburg were so strange that I wish to have some distinct statement besides my own, in testimony. As the record of your journal stands, I appear to have been the candidate of my Low Church brethren who gave me seventeen votes, while I was voting for Rev. Dr. H. U. Onderdonk. In point of fact, however, I was not their candidate, but had been chosen as the candidate of the other party in the caucus which was held the day before. My desire to be known as a consistent churchman throughout my whole course leads me to ask for a true account of the transaction, and as you are one of my oldest personal friends, and were present at the time, I turn to you as a faithful witness.

My recollection of the matter is as follows: After the failure of our brethren at the previous Convention to elect Dr. Wilson, my name was brought forward by the High Church Party, with whom I had always acted in accordance with the principles of Bishop White, and I gave the notion no encouragement because I had not been three years in the ministry, and did not think it right to place such a novice as myself in so responsible an office. Rev. Messrs. Montgomery, Kemper, Delancey and Weller (the editor of our High Church paper, the Christian Register,) were all united zealously in the project, but at the subsequent General Convention, I incurred the total loss of Montgomery's support, because I had stood boldly against Bishop Hobart's proposition to alter the liturgy, notwithstanding he had prevailed upon all the Bishops and the majority of the Lower House to vote for it. The voice of the Church, however, proved to be in agreement with my course, and Bishop Hobart himself subsequently abandoned his plan.

The following month of May brought us together at Harrisburg. You doubtless remember the meeting of our party at the hotel, when Mr. Binney made us an eloquent speech, and the clergy were requested to withdraw and choose their candidate. Our meeting proceeded accordingly to vote by ballot for the man, while I stood in a corner with a few others, and took no part in the voting. The result of the first vote gave me the majority. On Mr. Montgomery's motion, the brethren voted a second time, and my majority was increased. Objections were still made, and a third vote was taken, when it appeared that all but three united in my being the candidate. At this point, Montgomery took a paper from his pocket and said that he had here the list of all the names of the members of the Convention, that we had one of a majority in the clergy, and fourteen in the laity, so that we were sure of our man; but that in order to carry our election, it would be necessary that brother Hopkins should vote for himself. He desired, therefore, to know whether I was prepared to do so.

The question was evidently a grossly improper one, and if I had not a real dread of the office being cast upon me, I should have said so, and replied that it was a question which no man had a right to put, that all the meeting had to do was to choose their candidate, and leave the result to Providence. But I was perfectly ready to state my own views and principles, and answered at once, saying that my brethren who had done me the favor to put my name forward knew that I had given no encouragement whatever to such a choice, that I was quite too young in the ministry, and did not consider myself qualified for so serious a responsibility, and that I should certainly not vote for myself, under any circumstances whatever. Rev. Mr. Weller then addressed the meeting and said that he would not argue the general principle, but wished to inform me of a fact which I probably did not know, viz., that there were then in the House of Bishops two Bishops who had been elected by their own votes, and that in the present distracted state of the diocese, he felt sure that no reasonable man could censure me if I followed the same course, for the peace of the Church, &c.

To this I replied that I did not know that fact, and was sorry to learn it now, but that I should be more sorry to imitate what I could not help considering a very dangerous example. I then proceeded to say that I could not be of any use in aiding them to a worthy choice, because I knew too little of the clergy to be a proper judge of their qualifications, that I begged permission to withdraw, but pledged my vote for any man whom their wisdom should select, with the approbation of Bishop White. I then withdrew, and it was after I left that Montgomery succeeded in getting a vote for Rev. Dr. Onderdonk.

The next day I learned, on coming to Convention, that our Low Church brethern had chosen no candidate, being hopeless of success. But as their leaders were particularly opposed to Dr. Onderdonk, they had concluded to propose a conference, with the view of agreeing on myself, rather than have the other. Dr. Bedell told me this and begged me to assist in procuring this conference. But I declined for the very reason that its object was to elect me, and I would not be a party in the movement. I therefore took no share in the debate, which ended by the refusal of the conference. At this conclusion, when the House had voted to proceed to the election, Dr. Bedell beckoned to me, being too unwell to leave his chair, and told me that his party had resolved to vote for me. I replied that I hoped they would do no such thing, that it would be useless, as we were all pledged, and that I myself should vote for Dr. O. He answered that it was too late now to attempt any change of their resolutions, and that they would do as he said in order to prove that the High Churchmen had only gone against their own preference, by refusing the friendly proposal which, as brethern in Christ, they ought to have embraced, as the best way of having real peace in the diocese. The votes were then given. Bishop White named me as one of the tellers, and I declined, under the apprehension that some of our men might have been induced to give way, and that I I might possibly be suspected. For the same reason I gave my own vote open, in order to prove that I had redeemed my pledge. The result was the election of Bishop Onderdonk, while seventeen Low Church votes were given for myself, making me appear to be what I was not, viz: the candidate of their party.

You will see, my dear Brother, that my desire is therefore to have the facts stated in simple justification of my own consistency. The history of the case is perhaps without any parallel. That I was in fact preferred by both sides—the candidate actually chosen by the High Churchmen in caucus, and actually voted for by the Low Churchmen in Convention, while I voted for another person, and that other was elected—forms certainly so strange and peculiar a case that it needs some other testimony besides my own to establish the truth. Do me the favor, therefore, to set down your recollections, so far as your knowledge extends, and you will much oblige your old and attached friend and brother in Christ.

JOHN H. HOPKINS.

A Real Estate Mania.

Extract from a New York Letter.

To recur to the real estate mania, of which I have spoken in former letters. The passion for possessing property is stronger than it was at any time during the war, when speculation ran wild. If New York were not an island it could spread; but being an island it can not. Every foot of land in this island is wanted for business or dwelling houses, and as New York cannot stand still, but must increase her population, whether she will or not, the land becomes more and more valuable each year. The time can not be far off when every lot between the Battery and Harlem river will be covered by a house. There will not be room enough on the island for the population, and those remaining on it will have to pay well for the privilege. Some of the newspapers have lately been speculating on this fact, and the consequence is that every man having a few thousand dollars is rushing up town to buy lots. Within a few weeks the desire to own lots anywhere above Sixtieth street has risen to a perfect mania, and prices which would have been considered fabulous a few years ago, are now freely paid for a few hundred square feet of land in the upper part of the island.

The increase in the value of up-town property, whether fashionable houses or a piece of rock or swamp 25 feet by 100, has been from 30 to 60 per cent. in a couple of years, and this rate of increase is sure to to continue, for, as I have said, the island is not large enough for the population it will soon have. All investments in real estate are, therefore, perfectly safe, and sure to yield good returns, and every man who can scrape together enough money to buy a house or a lot, is rushing up to Yorkville or Harlem, and investing it.

Property owners out of town are just as sharp as the old stagers in town, and most of them are deeply grateful to the newspapers for getting up a rentscarce. New villages are being laid out on land that could have been bought a few years ago for a hundred dollars an acre, and the number of new buildings, mostly of the cottage style, projected within a radius of thirty miles, promises to give employment to every carpenter, mason, bricklayer, plasterer and laborer in and around New York, as soon as the winter breaks up. Supposing the present ratio of increase to continue for ten years, the suburban population will be larger in 1878 than the strictly local population is at the present time. New York and its environs will then count about two million souls.

Married Women and Maids.

The Imperial Review is troubled with the question whether married women should dance, and it expresses its opinions in a long article, from which we make an extract. It says:

"There is something almost unseemly in the spectacle of a half dozen young married women walking off with some of the best partners in the room, while a row of girls are sitting neglected against the wall. Neither ignorance nor thoughtlessness can be pleaded in excuse. Women thoroughly know women, whatever else they may know; and there is not one of them that is not vividly conscious of what heart-burning it causes to a poor girl to hear the music and watch the many twinkling feet of a ball room, and play the almost ignominious part of passive spectator. Grown up women clutching at all the toys or sweatmeats off a Christmas tree at a juvenile party, would not be a more unnatural spectacle. Grown up men eager to win the stakes at a round game got up for lads, home for the holidays, would not be more inhuman or cruel. We are constrained to plead for tenderness and consideration on the part of young women who are married toward young women who are not. Might not Sidney's words, as he handed the draught of water to the dying soldier at Lutzen be profitably remembered? "Thy need is greater than mine."

Rink—An Item for Anxious Inquirers.

CURLING.—A game on the ice: a winter game among the Scotch, which consists in launching from the hand a heavy weight (as a large stone, or mass of iron) along the surface of the ice, so as to strike another heavy weight and propel it in a given direction, thus resembling billiards—Jamieson. [Webster's Dic.]

RINK—The course of the stones, a term in curling on ice.

Be this they wan near the renkis' end.
—G. Douglas. (Glossary of Burns' Works".

TAM SAMSON'S ELEGY.

He was the king o' a' the core,
To guard, or draw, or wick a bore:
Or up the rink like Jehu roar
In time o' need;
But now he lays on death's hogs-score—
Tam Samson's dead!

—BURNS.

The frequent, and as frequently unanswered, query: Whence comes this stranger, seeking to be naturalized in our family of words? is thus, we think, satisfactorily disposed of. The word is certainly not of domestic origin as many are inclined to believe. Perhaps some practical Scottish curler might give our readers an interesting history of the game, and in so doing define the limits of that space on the ice, certainly circumscribed, called by our Caledonian friends a Rink.

COAL MINERS' RIOT.

Full Particulars—One of the Rioters Killed and Another Dangerously Wounded—Coroner's Inquest—The Man who Fired the Fatal Shot Makes a Voluntary Statement and Delivers Himself to the Authorities.

In the GAZETTE of Tuesday morning we published an account of a riot at O'Neil's coal works, in Jefferson township, which was correct in the main, but of which we were unable to procure full particulars. It appears the miners at all the works in that locality have been "out" for several weeks on account of a reduction of wages by the proprietors from four to three and a half cents. Thursday morning last a notice was found posted on O'Neil's engine house, stating that if his men went to work at the reduction his works would be burned. Mr. O'Neil and his men, it appears, came to terms, and on Monday morning they went to work at three and a half cents per bushel. The miners at Six Mile Ferry hearing of it, resolved to stop them, and started to O'Neil's works for that purpose. On their way up they were joined by others until the mob numbered from two to three hundred. Hearing of their approach, O'Neil, accompanied by his son and Wm. Hart, the night watchman, repaired to the works, armed with a shot gun, carbine and revolver, resolved to defend themselves against the attack. When they had approached near enough to hear him, Mr. O'Neil ordered the mob to come no further, but they pushed on in spite of this, when the riot ensued, in which Francis Belger was killed, and another man received a gunshot wound in the hip, which will probably prove fatal. After this the mob dispersed. Coroner Clawson was notified of the death of Belger, and Tuesday morning proceeded to the coal works, where the body remained, and held the inquest.

After impannelling J. S. Cupples, Andrew Grinder, Finley Osburn, Zachariah Knight, John Paul and James M. McLees as jurymen, the following testimony was adduced:

W. H. King sworn—Work for John O'Neil as pit boss; started to work after dinner, when a locomotive came along with some of our men on it; they told me that two hundred men were coming to take the men out of the pit; I told them there were no men in in the pit; I went on to the pit and saw the crowd coming; they started to come up the path to the pit; John O'Neil stepped out on the bank above the pit and told them not to come any further, that they were tresspassing on his premises; the crowd said they wanted to see his (O'Neil's) diggers; they called him a son-of a—.

J. Laughlin, sworn—One of O'Neil's men was sitting on the bank; they wanted to see what he was going to do; he told them that he was going to work; they asked him what wages he was going to work for; he told them 3½ cents; they then said they guessed he wouldn't; Francis Belger and two others came up the bank, Belger in the lead, and the crowd below cheering them; Belger had a pick handle, which he flourished, and was talking French; Mr. O'Neil and Wm. Hart went across to where they were coming up the bank, and told them to go back; they still came on, others following them; Hart and O'Neil became separated, some distance apart, when one large man with a haversack came on up; O'Neil pointed a carbine at him; he still came on towards O'Neil until he arrived so close that O'Neil punched him in the neck with the muzzle of the gun, when he caught hold of the gun, and another man behind him struck O'Neil on the head with a club; O'Neil fell, when one of them said, "you d—d old bugger, we've got you now;" Hart ruu to his rescue, and fired a double-barrelled shot gun at them; the crowd rushed on them and took the guns away from O'Neil and Hart; when Hart shot I saw the deceased fall.

George R. Beam, sworn—While the riot was in progress I was between the check house and where the deceased fell. (He corroborated the preceding witness as to the attack.) I saw O'Neil fall, and told his (O'Neil's) son Denny to run to him; Denny went to him; the first I saw after that was Denny raising his father up; heard a shot and saw the deceased fall; the report of the gun came from where Hart was standing; Hart had a double barreled shot gun; O'Neil had a carbine; these were all the guns I saw; after the man fell the crowd dispersed and went down the hill; heard what I supposed to be revolvers; dont know how many but there were several at anyrate; dont know which party were using them; the fight began about one o'clock P. M.

Dr. James A. Herron, sworn—I made an examination of the body of deceased and found fifteen holes about the throat and upper part of the breast. The caroted artery was severed, which caused his death. It would produce internal hemorrhage; two of his upper ribs and scapula were fractured; I found no shot, but am satisfied the holes were made by shot. Five openings were different from the other ten, being large.

William Hart made the following voluntary statemant—I am in the employ of O'Neil, as night watchman, at present. He took me up to the pit to help protect his property yesterday. The men came to the foot of the hill, and advanced up. Mr. O'Neil warned them not to come, saying he would use violence if they did, as they were trespassing upon his property. They saw they could not get up on that side and went around the hill to try to get above us. O'Neil went out to prevent them from climbing up the hill, I saw O'Neil was in danger. The next thing I saw was O'Neil down and four men beating him with clubs. The deceased came up the hill towards me as fast as he could; I warned him to stay down. I then cocked the gun and waived him back with my hand, as I thought he did not understand what I said. The man was killed. I made my way to Mr. O'Neil, and another man was hurt. They still kept coming up the hill, and my gun was used over their heads. They finally got my gun away from me; one man struck me over the head with a club; I caught him by the neck and knocked him over the bank. Denny O'Neil then came to his father. The rioters then left. We carried O'Neil to the check house, got a wagon and sent him the back way home.

Mr. John O'Neil made a statement relating to the affair, which was in substance the same as testified to by King and Beam, and as related by Hart, in addition to which he said he found a notice on his engine house last Thursday, threatening to burn his works if he put his men to work at less than four cents per bushel.

The testimony here closed and the jury returned the following verdict: "Francis Belger came to his death on the 30th day of March, 1868, at O'Neil's coal works, in Jefferson township, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, from the effects of a gunshot wound. The jury believe the shooting was done by William Hart."

A PROSECUTION.

Denny O'Neil, son of John O'Neil, made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging William Dufrad, Peter Graham, Thomas Pryor, George Freeborn, John Lebro, —— Fremont, and others, whose names were unknown, with riot. Warrants were issued and several of the Mayor's police went to Six Mile Ferry in search of the accused, but failed to find any but Dufrad, who is the man who was shot in the hip. They were compelled to leave him at home, as his condition would not admit of his being moved.

As previously stated Mr. Hart gave himself up to the authorities, and is now in the lock-up awaiting a hearing. He does not deny firing the fatal shot, but says he did it in self defence.

There has been no further demonstration on the part of the rioters, and no further attack is apprehended. Mr. O'Neil's men we learn have been armed, and will be able to resist an attack of any ordinary sized mob.

The above is but the legitimate results of a Coal Miners' Union, when controlled by ignorant men, which we fear is too often the case.

Bank of Commerce Building, Corner Sixth and Wood Streets.

It is a matter of congratulation with all persons interested in the growth of our city, and its character as a commercial centre, to know that on all of our principal thoroughfares there are springing up, in the way of elegant and palatial structures for trade purposes, new and certain evidences of prosperity and business activity. Our facilities for mercantile transactions are daily becoming more varied and extensive, and the enhanced value of real estate in various quarters, as shown by recent sales, goes to prove that the necessary capital is forthcoming on all occasions to make our city metropolitan in its character. Among the more recent improvements in this line is the magnificent new business edifice, which has just been completed, on the corner of Wood and Sixth streets, and which rivals in point of architectural beauty and finish any building devoted to business purposes in this city. Its owners, the National Bank of Commerce and General George W. Cass, have spared neither capital nor time to render it a monument to their own good taste and enterprise and a credit to the city at large. Under the immediate direction and superintendence of the gentlemen comprising the building committee entrusted with the details of its erection, Messrs. Albert Patterson, President, and Charles Lockhart and James McCandless, Directors of the Bank, the building has been completed in a style of exquisite beauty, at the same time presenting a massive, solid appearance.

The building is five stories high and in something akin to the Grecian style of architecture, the architects, Messrs. Barr & Moser, introducing many pretty features, blending original ideas with standard designs. The contract for building was awarded the favorably known master builders, Boyd & Son, at $52,000, and we marvel how they reared so fine a structure on those figures. On Wood street the building presents three rooms, handsomely fitted out for business purposes to which they will be devoted. On Sixth street, in addition to the windowed side of the room to be occupied by the bank, there is a store room fronting that thoroughfare. All of the first floor apartments are supplied with French plate glass windows of large dimensions, set in iron frames. To a height of twenty-five feet from the ground the building is of finely cut Freeport stone, presenting a very solid appearance. At several places, both on the Wood and Sixth street sides, project neat little balconies, with tasteful iron railings, adding effect to the general imposing appearance of the structure. The four upper stories are of fine Philadelphia pressed brick, a very superior article, and the openings are enlivened by cut stone facings. The building is supplied with a heavy cornice, which is surmounted with an elaborate brick parapet. Upon the whole the building is a model of beauty and proportion.

The apartment to be occupied by the National Bank of Commerce is in the corner building, owned exclusively by it, as well as the buildings which it adjoins, is situated on the corner of Wood and Sixth streets, having a front on the former and running to considerable depth along the latter thoroughfare. It is elevated five feet from the ground and is approached by cut stone steps with bannister which leads squarely from the corner of the streets. This we think is the only building in the city with such an entrance, and the idea is a capital one. The banking room occupies two stories of the building, thrown into one, and is consequently large, airy and heartsome. The floor is covered with tesselated marble, and the woodwork throughout is of rich black walnut, trimmed with maple and ash. There depends from the ceiling a magnificent bronze chandelier supplied with twelve jets. The walls and ceilings are virgin white, with high polish, which afford pretty effect in contrast with the dark wood of the window frames, counters, desks and doors. The vault is one of the most complete ever built in this city, and will successfully defy either fire or burglars. It is large and built from the ground up on solid flagstones laid upon each other. The shell into which the iron frame of the safe (one of Burke & Barnes') was placed was built up and over with ponderous blocks of Freeport stone which never could be thoroughly heated by the hottest fire or dug through by the most experienced burglars. In this iron vault is placed another fire proof safe, and still again within the latter is a burglar proof safe, wherein the funds of the bank will be kept.

To the rear of the counting room is a washroom supplied with light and water for the use of the clerks and officers of the bank. Above the counting room, at the first landing of a graceful pair of stairs of solid walnut wood with handsome balustrade, is a platform with railing around it, which will answer the purpose of an observatory for the Directors to overlook the proceedings below, or hold communication with accountants. To the rear of this are two rooms elegantly furnished and carpeted, which will be occupied as the Directors' room. This, as well as the entire building, is heated with steam and supplied with water. An ordinary and water closet is in close proximity to these apartments. Upon the whole the new banking place is one of the finest in the country, and should be a matter of pride to all Pittsburghers. The bank will take possession of its premises to-day, and we wish it an increased patronage. Few institutions of the character are better conducted, and none are more reliable and accommodating. The directors and officers are shrewd and competent business gentlemen, of large means and experience, and are deserving the utmost confidence of our mercantile community.

The Sixth street store in this magnificent building is occupied by the branch house of Julian Allen, the extensive dealer in leaf tobacco and cigars, No. 172 Water street, New York, and will be in charge of Mr. Daniel F. Dinaa. Here dealers and others will find a large stock of pure Havana leaf tobacco and cigars, which will be sold at the lowest prices. This firm has succeeded in building up a large patronage in this neighborhood, and in their new quarters will be better prepared for the proper transaction of their rapidly growing trade.

The Fort Pitt Banking Company, an institution representing large capital and one in which the stockholders, men of almost unlimited means, are individually liable to depositors, will occupy one of the Wood street stores, while the celebrated Fairbanks Scale Company will occupy the other.

In concluding our notice of this new block of buildings, we feel that it will be but an act of courtesy to compliment the architects and mechanics who have combined to produce such an ornament to the city. They are all deserving of credit for the excellent manner in which their work has been performed. We can here only refer to those contributing their talent and labor in the erection and completion of the building: Architects, Barr & Moser; contractors, Boyd & Son; stone masons, James S. Knox and J. Alfetter; painter, J. F. Cluley; stair work, &c., Campbell & Stewart; foreman of the interior work, Chas. Wilson; foreman of frame work, floors, &c., Wm. Chisholm; brick work, Thompson Grubbs; plumber, Wm. Tate.

A Conflict of Authority—Novel Proceeding.

Legal proceedings of rather a novel character were instituted before Alderman Strain, yesterday, by J. J. Shutterly, of Lawrenceville, against the agents of the Pittsburgh Gas Company. A company entitled "the Lawrenceville Gas Company" was chartered by the State Legislature, and a short time before Lawrenceville was consolidated with the city, an ordinance passed the Council of that borough granting said company the right to erect gas works and lay pipe on certain streets in said borough. After the borough had been consolidated with the city, and it was represented in the City Councils, an ordinance passed that body authorizing the Pittsburgh Gas Company to extend their pipes through Lawrenceville, in accordance with which the work has commenced, and is now within a few feet of the old borough line. Yesterday Mr. Shutterly made information against the agents of the Company, charging them with trespass and nuisance—trespassing, we presume, on the chartered privileges of the Lawrenceville Gas Company, and the nuisance consisting in obstructing the streets. This may be the proper method of procedure; but if so, it is certainly premature, as the information, which is dated March 31st, alleged that the offense charged had been committed, when in fact no offense against either the citizens of Lawrenceville or the Lawrenceville Gas Company has been committed, as the workmen have not yet reached the borough line. The Alderman, with a posse, proceeded to the ground, but finding that no work had been done on the disputed territory, returned with the intention, we are informed, of making the arrests as soon as the work is proceeded with beyond the old borough line. The matter will doubtless be brought before the Courts for adjudication, but this appears a novel method of reaching that end, and the idea of instituting a criminal proceeding for an anticipated offense of this character is certainly a novel one.

Death From Exposure and Destitution.

Alderman Irwin yesterday held an inquest on the body of Mary Ross, familiarly known as "Wild Mary, the Rag Picker." For many years previous to her death she made her living by picking rags through the city, which were conveyed to her home, on the Spring Garden Plank Road, by three dogs harnessed to a small wagon. She was about fifty years of age, and from almost constant exposure to all kinds of weather, had grown quite infirm, and some of her neighbors proposed sending her to the City Home. She refused to go, however, saying that she was able to support herself. She resided in a miserable hut, with no company save her three dogs, who shared the house with her. Monday morning she did not make her appearance as usual, which caused an examination of the premises to be made, when a miserable picture of wretchedness and destitution was presented. The unfortunate woman was lying on a pile of dirty rags, dead, surrounded by her three half starved dogs, and from indications life had been extinct for some time, so that it is probable she died Sunday night or Monday morning. The jury found that the "deceased came to her death from sickness superinduced by exposure and want."

In a New Place.

Among the changes on Fifth street we notice that our friend Mr. P. H. McGuire has taken possession of the elegant room No. 105 Fifth street, recently occupied by Chatoney, the former agent of the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company. This commodious apartment has been thoroughly refitted, and may now be regarded as one of the finest business rooms in the city. Mr. McGuire will hereafter carry on his business, that of general confectioner and restauranter, in such style as will render his place popular to all classes. He will serve up meals, ice cream and refreshments at all hours, and keep constantly on hand a fine assortment of cakes and general sweetmeats. Elegant and private apartments have been reserved for the ladies, and under no circumstances will any intoxicating beverages be sold on the premises. We trust Mr. McGuire will receive the patronage due his energy and enterprise and the high-toned character of his new business place.

"Still They Come."

John Walls, the proprietor of a bagnio drinking house and gambling hell, in an old canal boat moored in the Allegheny river, at the foot of O'Hara street, has, it appears, struck a streak of ill luck. John has been having things his own way for several months, or we might say years, but if there is any virtue in a multiplicity of prosecutions he will receive a check, ere long, which will put an end to his nefarious career for a time at least. Within two week past we have reported no less than six informations against him for various offences, from keeping a bawdy house to a breach of the peace, and the number still increases. Yesterday Margaret McWilliams made information before Alderman Strain, charging Walls with selling liquor on Sunday, and also with selling liquor without license. He was arrested and held to bail for his appearance at Court.

Beautiful Wall Papers.

The changing of dwelling places to-day, will give a new impetus to many lines of trade, and especially to that department which embraces the wall paper and window shade business. Readers desiring anything in this line are respectfully referred to the card of the old and reliable house of W. P. Marshall, No. 87 Wood street, near Fourth, which appears in another column. This house has strengthened itself for the Spring trade with a very large and magnificent stock of Foreign and American wall papers, of very beautiful styles, and ranging in prices to suit everybody. For variety and beauty, the stock of wall paper and window shades will compare favorably with any west of New York. Throughout it is an extensive one, and parties wishing to purchase will do well to call and examine the goods and prices.

Pennsylvanians in Tennessee.—The Nashville Press and Times of a late date notes the arrival of the steamer Delaware from Pittsburgh, with a company of emigrants to the State of Tennessee, consisting of five or six families, including twenty young men from Indiana and Lawrence counties, Pennsylvania. They had with them wagons, agricultural implements and farming machinery. A portion designed to engage in farming, and the remainder in manufacturing in the vicinity of McMinnville. Another colony is expected in May from the same localities in this State.

We have to thank Mr. W. A. Gildenfenny, for two excellent publications. The London Quarterly and Blackwood's Magaziue. The latter is peculiarly interesting this month, because it has an article "The church in the Army and Navy," which to a certain extent contains a parallel to the Tyng case which is so familiar. Both the Magazine and the Quarterly are filled with very interesting and entertaining matter.

The Question Answered.—The question "Why is the establishment of Bates & Bell, 21 Fifth street, always crowded with customers?" is a very plain one, and only requires a visit there to solve it. The stock of dress goods is one of the largest and best assorted offered in the city this season, and the ladies, always, ascertain where the best goods are, and there make their purchases. The question is solved.

To Be Raised.—The work of raising the tow-boat J. S. Cosgrave, which was sunk at the second pier of the railroad bridge on the Monongahela river Saturday, commenced yesterday.

The National Insurance Company.

The affairs of the National Insurance Company, of Allegheny city, have been so cleverly managed since its organization that it now ranks second to no other institution claiming the patronage and confidence of the business community. It has been careful to make no extravagant or injudicious adventures, but on a safe basis has transacted its business in such a manner, as to not only prove remmnerative to stockholders, but likewise secure for itself a reputation for solidity which few corporations of much longer standing have obtained. The company has entered into the Spring trade strengthened and prepared to take risks on property of every description against fire, at most reasonable rates, and from our actual knowledge of its management we can commend it in the highest terms to our readers. The President and Directors are among the solid and substantial representative business men of our sister city, and their names are a sufficient guarantee of the high character and reliability of the company. Our friend, James E. Stevenson, Esq., the Secretary, will be found at the office of the Company, in the Allegheny Trust Company's building, willing to afford all required information to those who may call.

Amusements.

LOTTA.—As the Marchioness, Lotta is the most bewitching, fascinating incongruity the stage ever was tripped over by. As Little Neil nothing can excel her in sweetness and child-like beauty. With Dickens for an author, Brougham for a dramatist, and Lotta for an actress, he who spends an evening at the Opera House this week, spends it well. Recalls were really too numerous to mention last night, but one scene near the end was encored five times, and the audience seemed perfectly willing to have it an indefinite number of times more, if the management had been willing so to overtax the little meteor's powers of endurance. Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Sylvester and Mr. Hotto, especially the latter, assisted well, and were thoroughly appreciated by the immense audience. The house will be packed again to-night, as the same bill is to be presented.

Fine Furniture.

Messrs. Lemon & Weise, No. 118 Fourth street, have now in store one of the finest assortments of furniture ever opened in this city, and they are prepared to offer their patrons unusual inducements in low prices. This firm have long enjoyed a high reputation for the excellence of their manufactures, and never before were they better prepared to sustain that reputation than now with their splendid stock of parlor, chamber and general household furniture. All their styles are new and inviting, while every article is warranted to prove durable and satisfactory. Purchasers will find that they can deal nowhere else to better advantage. Persons desiring to make selections in this line of trade will do well to favor this enterprising and accommodating firm with a visit.

Attempted Burglary.

Yesterday morning between two and three o'clock Henry Hall was caught in an attempt to break into the bakery of Martin Kessler, of East Liberty. Officers Bruner and Stokely, who have been detailed for duty there, observed him operating at the door, and allowed him to proceed with his work until he had succeeded in opening it, when they made a decent upon him, and captured him and his tools, which consisted of a brace, bit and chisel. He had bored several holes through the door, and forcing a piece out put in his hand and turned the lock. He was conveyed to the lock-up, and yesterday Mr. Kessler made information against him for burglary. He was in default of bail committed for trial.

Committed for Trial.

Mrs. Elmira Link made information before Justice Salsbury, of Birmingham, yesterday, charging Benjamin Page with assault and battery with intent to commit rape. Mrs. Link resides in Birmingham, and from her statement it appears that her husband was absent from home Monday night. Sometime during the night she heard a noise, and shortly afterwards Page entered her room and seized hold of her in a rude manner. She resisted and called for assistance, when Page fled. She does not know how he gained admission to the house. He was arrested, and after a hearing, in default of five hundred dollars bail for his appearance at Court was committed to jail.

Larceny by Bailee.—Wm. Curran yesterday made information before Alderman Strain, charging Andrew Andes with larceny by bailee. He alleges that some weeks since the accused borrowed a pocket knife, the property of the prosecutor, of the value of one dollar and fifty cents, which he refuses to return to the proper owner. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Ferocious Dog.—Patrick Megan, made information before Alderman Owston charging D. B. Rodgers, of the 9th ward, with keeping a ferocious dog, which he alleges bit one of his children. Rodgers says the ferocious dog is a rat tarrier pup. He was arrested and held for a hearing.

Removal.—Messrs. Willson & Robinson, Merchant Tailors and dealers in Ready Made Clothing and Gents and Youths' Furnishing Goods, have removed from their old stand to No. 118 Market street, second door from Liberty street.

Surety of the Peace.—Ellen Henberry made information before Alderman Strain yesterday, against Ellen Ferren for surety of the peace. The parties reside near the Clinton iron works in South Pittsburgh. A warrant was issued for her arrest.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Williams.

The case of Richardson and wife vs. Dr. M. R. Trevor—action for damages for malpractice, went to the jury, but no verdict had been received at adjournment.

A. J. Erickson vs. H. Oppenheimer & Co. The plaintiff, a cutter, had been in the employ of defendants, merchant tailors, and the action is to recover wages. On trial.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

John Connelly and Hugh M'Garry, already tried and convicted of receiving stolen goods, were tried on two other indictments, charging them with like offense. Verdict not guilty.

Commonwealth vs. Wm. May. This defendant was indicted on the double charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods, the property of the firms of R. & J. Watson, and Horner, Wood & Company. The property alleged to have been stolen was a lot of rope taken from one of the tow boats of the firm. The defendant is a junk dealer, doing business in a boat which is moored at different points along the river in front of the city. It was claimed for the defendant that he purchased the rope in good faith, and without any knowledge that it had been stolen. Jury out.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

In the case of Miller vs. Huffman, the Court ordered judgment of non suit to be entered.

Lynch & Duff vs. Campbell & Aiken. Verdict for plaintiffs for $15,75.

Dried Rubber Teeth—$12 a Set.

Dr. Spencer, No. 254 Penn street, is prepared to furnish Artificial Teeth on Dried Rubber at twelve dollars a set, which is three dollars a set less than they are advertised in this community. At the same time he wishes it distinctly understood that he does not recommend them, nor does he in any way hold himself responsible for this class of work, as it is worthless. The genuine Vulcanite, as the license specifies, cost twenty dollars a set and these plates he will warrant, and hold himself individually responsible for. Persons desiring the genuine or imitation will do well to call at No. 254 Penn street, at the Original Laughing Gas establishment.
